British Labor Suffers Heavy Loss At Polls

LONDON (CP)—Intensive political activity looms in Britain following Saturday's municipal elections which saw Labor suffer a setback to the Conservatives — the first since the Labor Party swept the 1945 general election.

Returns from all but two of the 388 boroughs in England and Wales which voted for municipal councilmen gave the Conservatives a net gain of 618 council seats, while Labor sustained a net loss of 644.

Although Conservative leaders called for a general election, such a course does not seem likely because the Labor Party still has a powerful majority in the House of Commons.

Labor Party leaders frankly admitted the outcome was "disappointing," and Conservatives acclaimed the result as a sharp swing to the right which showed the handwriting on he wall.

Even the staunchest Conservative organs, however, refrained from backing editorially the demands of Winston Churchill and Lord Woolton, Conservative Party chairman, for a general election.

NO MANDATE, HE SAYS

Churchill Sunday night proclaimed that "the result deprives the Socialist (Labor) government of any mandate they obtained at the general election in 1945.

"Henceforward," he declared, "they will govern without the moral support and against the will of the people."

Lord Woolton, said the elections showed that "the voters of the country have no confidence in the government."

"I believe the government should recognize this fact, should recognize that the House of Commons no longer represents the political convictions of democracy, and should seek another mandate," he said.

While opinions on the significance of the Conservative gains were divided, most observers expressed the opinion the voting reflected growing public discontent with shortages and restrictions—climaxed by reduction in the bacon ration to one ounce a week and the elimination of gasoline allowances for non-essential motoring.

Labor Party spokesmen minimized the importance of the voting and made plain the government had no intention of altering its legislative program for the coming year—which includes further nationalization of vital industries and curtailment of the historic powers of the House of Lords.

OPPOSITION STIFFENS

Conservatives, on the other hand, took heart from their successes and some elements—notably the Conservative Daily Telegraph—expressed belief they had a good chance of blocking the measure to trim the authority of the Lords.

The outcome, with two boroughs in England and Wales undecided, showed the conservatives had won 1,236 council seats compared with their previous holding of 618, while labor won 831 compared with 1,475 at the last elections.

Those voting Saturday, together with 3,000,000 eligible to vote in Scotland's borough elections Tuesday, represent about 50 per cent of the parliamentary electorate. The other 50 per cent live in areas with different voting timetables.

London, which Labor has held since 1934, did not vote Saturday, nor did many anti-labor farm areas.

Happy About The Whole Thing

Blonde and pretty Lillian Soderberg, cashier in David Spencer Ltd. grocery department, tears up her ration book with a smile just to show one and all how she feels. "A lot less work for us," was her comment this morning.

"Bring on the fancy cakes and sugar-full recipes," says J. S. Norrington, manager of Norrington's Bakery on Cook Street, as he scoops out the ration-free sugar. "We won't have to substitute glucose any more," he said.

Housewives Get 100-Pound Sacks In Stores Again

Sugar went up a penny a pound today as Victoria wholesalers and retailers received orders for 50 and 100-pound sacks, where for more than five years one and five-pound sacks were purchased.

Removal of sugar from the ration list announced Sunday night has caused almost as much furore for the consumer front as did its inception five years and four months ago.

It was on July 1, 1942, that Canadians were first introduced to rationing. A temporary war ration card was issued on that date with five coupons, each good for one pound of sugar. In September the first ration book was issued and then followed the rationing of jams, preserved fruits, butter, tea and meat.

This morning the sugar administration office at the City Hall was flooded with telephone queries as to the "truth of the report sugar is off the ration." One city wholesaler said retailers were on his office steps this morning seeking more sugar in anticipation of a buyers' rush.

There is lots of sugar in the country and if a shortage occurs it will be merely a temporary one, resulting from the inability of refineries and wholesalers to handle the increased quantities, according to one wholesaler this morning.

"They are really going after sugar today but we don't know what the angle is," he remarked. "The price advanced one cent a pound on all types of sugar, effective this morning.

"The stores are asking us to rush out more sugar as no one could load up sugar during the rationing. There have been several 100-pound bag sales today in stores and it used to be 5 and 10-pound bags.

"I suppose we'll sell a month's supply in two days and then not sell any more sugar for a month. There is no shortage of sugar. It's just a matter of handling."

Bakers Welcome Good News

Bakers welcomed the news today as much as the housewives.

"We used glucose as a substitute for sugar when we were particularly short and when we started using it had to pay 21 cents a pound, which hit rather hard," said J. S. Norrington, manager of Norrington's Bakery on Cook Street.

"Now, however, there will be lots of sugar for Christmas cakes and wedding cakes with all the fancy icing trim customers order," he said. "It's the first step on the road back, as far as bakers are concerned. Now if we only had all the shortening we wanted, everything would be fine."

Tom Kelway, proprietor of the Black Horse Inn, and president of the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association said he did not know whether restaurants would put the bowls of sugar back on tables and counters, but presumed they would.

"We've been economizing for so long, we'll have to get used to the idea," he said. "First thing will be to find the sugar bowls we packed away five years ago. That should take a good couple of days or so."

Another restaurant had not made plans yet, but reports the customer can have as many lumps over the rationed two as he pleases now. "Just ask for it," seems to be the slogan.

Cashiers in food stores and departments are among the city's happiest people today. With a long line of people waiting to have their purchases totaled, stopping to take out ration coupons or tell some customer "that coupon is not due yet" was "no fun they all say."

"It will be a lot less work for us and save so much time," said Lillian Soderberg of David Spencer Ltd. as she prepared to tear up her own ration book in jubilation this morning.

A few customers buying sugar this morning proffered their ration books, and were quite surprised when told they did not need the books anymore.

W. A. Hick, who has been with the ration office in Victoria for 4½ years and who is now ration officer in charge of local ration boards, with a desk in the rentals board offices in the Belmont Building, said:

"It has been a pleasant job and we have had wonderful co-operation from the wholesalers, retailers and restaurant men with whom we dealt."

The ration offices of the W.P.T.B., which during the war years was one of the busiest sections of the Belmont Building, were gradually consolidated and finally removed in March of this year. Since that time, ration affairs have been handled at the sugar administration office in the City Hall.

Traveled 600 Miles To Victoria To Seek Miracle Cure By Armenian Faith-Healer

In the Empress Hotel Sunday a crippled and sickly Albertan wept when he heard that Avak the Great had been unable to cross from Seattle to Victoria due to Canadian-U.S. immigration technicalities.

He was Alex Zima, 651 103rd Avenue, Edmonton. He had traveled more than 600 miles from Alberta's centre to contact the 20-year-old self-styled Armenian faith-healer, his last ray of hope for a cure for his painful and incurable sickness, known as Parkinson disease, a form of palsy.

Hope soon again lighted his tear-stained face, however, when he was informed that he could meet Avak in Seattle. He immediately made arrangements for a flying trip to the Sound city and was off on the afternoon plane.

The sick man was discovered waiting patiently for Avak in the lobby of the hotel by Kenneth Tinkham, who arrived Sunday in charge of 135 Californians making a western tour. The touring party is sponsored by Dr. Clem Davies, formerly of the City Temple here. Dr. Davies decided to remain in Seattle when he was informed that the Armenian could not enter Canada.

"I've seen several doctors, but none of them have been able to cure me," said the 45-year-old Albertan. "I even went to see the Mayo Brothers, but they were unable to do anything for me."

"Do you have faith that Avak can cure you?" asked Mr. Tinkham. "I have seen him do great things for people who had faith in his healing powers."

The sick man sobbed: "I've come 600 miles to see him. Isn't that enough? I know he can cure me."

Mr. Tinkham told the patient that he would be able to contact Avak in Seattle and suggested that he leave immediately for the city.

The sick man rose from his seat. He smiled faintly at a small group of sympathizers. "God bless you," he said, as he left for Seattle. A moment later he was lost in the crowd.

Later Mr. Tinkham explained why Avak had been barred from entry into Canada. He said his six-months U.S. travel permit had expired and an effort was now being made to obtain another visa which would permit the Armenian faith-healer to stay an additional few months in the United States.

He said Avak, who was brought to California by Kirkor Arakelian, Fresno wine maker, to cure his epileptic son, was so pleased with the United States that he was hoping to become a United States citizen.

ALEX ZIMA
. . . hoped to be cured of palsy.

"He likes the freedom of the country," he said, "and he likes the people."

Mr. Tinkham said Avak had become connected with Dr. Davies, and has been appearing under his sponsorship at the Los Angeles shrine auditorium where great throngs assembled hoping to be cured or to witness miracles.

Sea Mine Blown Up

SEATTLE (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard reported that the cutter Bonham destroyed a floating mine with gunfire 15 miles off the Oregon coast between Cape Argo and Cape Blanco at 8.10 a.m. today. The Ss. Bunker Hill reported sighting the mine at 3.25 p.m. Sunday. The Bonham is based at Coos Bay.

No One To Greet Avak In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—Avak Hagopian's arrival in Seattle Sunday morning aboard his special 11-car train failed to create even a ripple of interest.

The 20-year-old self-styled Armenian faith-healer arose at 5.45 a.m. (P.S.T.) to greet well-wishers as his train pulled into the Union Station. No one was there.

Two hours later he emerged again, only to find the platform still deserted.

Avak then retired to a hotel with his Armenian retinue while 130 southern Californians making a western tour with him boarded a steamer for Victoria.

Avak, barred from entry to Canada because his six-months U.S. travel permit has expired, will rejoin the party Monday night for the return trip to Los Angeles.

Ejects Spiritualist

City police rushed to Balmoral Road at 8 Sunday morning in response to a call from a resident that people were running about in their night attire. The police found the trouble was that a resident had been disturbed by a spiritualist who had called at his place and that he had ejected the man from his premises.

Transit Workers To Get Strike Pay Starting Today

The strike of 2,850 Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. urban transit workers today entered its third week, with members of the Street Railwaymen's Union (A.F.L.) eligible for strike pay starting from today.

Union officials here today said the payments would amount to $10 to $12 per week and they are to be made from funds of the international office of the union in Detroit. First payments are expected to be made this week-end.

Meanwhile the latest hopes of settlement of the dispute rests with Labor Minister Gordon S. Wismer with Acting-Mayor Charles Jones of Vancouver.

Following discussions last week with Mr. Wismer George R. Matthews, secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver Retail Merchants' Association, announced he would ask Mr. Jones to call a meeting with representatives of the union and the company and with Mr. Wismer.

HOLDS RESPECT

"We would welcome such a meeting, and the presence of Mr. Wismer would definitely be a hopeful factor," said a spokesman of the union in Vancouver during the week-end. "He is respected by both sides."

This spokesman, however, said union officials could not promise in advance to accept the findings of Mr. Wismer or any other mediator.

"They would have to be voted on by the whole union membership," he said.

It is considered likely the company would agree to submit its differences with the union, over pay increases and hours of work, to arbitration, with the findings of the arbitrator binding. Mr. Wismer has agreed to co-operate in a meeting with Mayor Jones and representatives of both parties.

Mr. Matthews said the retail merchants would suggest that Mayor Percy George of Victoria and Mayor William Mott of New Westminster attend the meeting. Mayor George said today he had had no word of this proposed meeting.

Moves by the three mayors both before and during the strike have been undertaken, but to date they have failed.

Nova Scotia Holiday

HALIFAX (CP) — Premier Angus L. Macdonald, before leaving for the United States today on a private visit, announced Nov. 11 will be observed as a holiday in Nova Scotia. He added that Nov. 20, Princess Elizabeth's wedding day, would not be observed as a holiday in the province.

Mikolajczyk In Britain; Death Awaited In Poland

LONDON (CP) — Stanislaw Mikolajczyk said tonight he had fled Poland through the Russian Zone of Germany to the British area after learning the Moscow-sponsored Polish government planned to sentence him and at least two other Polish Peasant Party officials to death.

The Polish opposition leader reached the promised sanctuary of Britain in an R.A.F. plane, two weeks after he had dropped from sight in Poland.

"I got the news on the day of the opening of Parliament that immunity would be taken away from me," Mikolajczyk told an interviewer at his wife's home in suburban London.

"I knew also they had made plans in advance with a military court to sentence us to death."

The stocky, 46-year-old Polish Peasant Party leader, who headed the Polish government-in-London during the occupation, kissed his wife's hand after walking into her house.

DECISION MADE

"After I got the news they were going to arrest us I made a decision to go away because, after all, they would sentence us to death and our people would try to avenge us and cause unnecessary bloodshed," Mikolajczyk said.

Mikolajczyk refused to say whether he planned to form an anti-Soviet bloc outside of Poland and whether he intends to remain in Britain or to go to the United States.

He said he had been out of touch with the news and had no immediate plans for the future.

He landed from Germany at Manston, an R.A.F. airport in Kent.

CROSSED SOVIET ZONE

Mikolajczyk said he left Poland Oct. 20, crossing the country's western frontier and the Soviet Zone of Germany, and went on to the British Zone of Germany. He declined to disclose the point where he found safety there.

"I first felt safe last Saturday," the day of his arrival in the British Zone, he said.

He said British authorities had known of his whereabouts since his arrival in their zone.

Asked if other associates were safe, he replied: "No comment."

First intimation of his arrival was given in the House of Commons, where Christopher Mayhew, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said amid loud cheers:

"I have been informed Mikolajczyk arrived in this country today and was given leave to land."

U.S. Provisionally O.K.'s Turcotte As Canadian Consul At Chicago

OTTAWA (CP)—The External Affairs Department said today it considers the rumpus over the consular appointment of Edmond Turcotte of Montreal ended with provisional recognition of the appointment by the United States State Department.

"We are informed by the State Department that provisional recognition has been granted for the appointment of Mr. Turcotte as consul-general at Chicago, and that ends the matter," a department spokesman said.

He added "provisional recognition" was the normal procedure at this stage. The appointment had been protested by Chicago municipal officials and the Ottawa Journal said Saturday Ambassador Ray Atherton had lodged objection to it Tuesday in a personal call at the External Affairs Department.

Today, the Journal said Mr. Atherton had prevented officers of his embassy Sunday from joining with the department in a statement denying the ambassador had made such a visit.

"The ambassador directed the embassy's withdrawal from the External Affairs statement because it simply did not conform with the facts," the Journal added.

The reported objection to Mr. Turcotte's appointment had been made chiefly on the ground of an "anti-American" statement in an article he wrote for the University of Toronto quarterly in 1945.

Ration Books Just War Souvenirs

OTTAWA (CP) — The ration book became "just a souvenir" for Canadians today.

Sugar and Molasses, last holdouts on the Canadian coupon ration list that once included butter, meat, tea, coffee, jams, preserves and gasoline, were freed from rationing, effective immediately. Thus ends consumer rationing begun in the Dominion in 1942 to ensure a fair distribution of scarce commodities for the postwar period.

In making the announcement Sunday night, Finance Minister Abbott left no doubt a Canadian housewife can safely throw away her multi-colored coupon leaflet that has been her shoping companion for five years.

The minister paid tribute to the work of more than 600 local ration boards set up throughout the Dominion to handle the vast ration administration and whose members worked on a voluntary basis. He said the work of these boards now was finished and they would be dissolved.

The minister also disclosed:

1. Price ceilings will be retained on both sugar and molasses, though the price of sugar will be allowed to rise a cent a pound above its present level of approximately 9 cents a pound.

2. Unless unforseen circumstances arise, there should be no further increase in sugar prices for the next year.

3. Domestic sugar beet growers are being allowed a bonus of ¼ cent a pound above the present price.

4. The government does not propose to subsidize the production of sugar beets in 1947.

Tuesday Elections In U.S. Have Little National Bearing

NEW YORK (AP) — United States voters tomorrow will elect a Mississippi senator, a Kentucky governor, representatives for Ohio, Indiana and New York Federal districts and mayors for several score cities, including Philadelphia, San Francisco, Cleveland and Detroit.

From a national viewpoint, the Kentucky gubernatorial race holds top interest because of Democratic efforts to unseat the present Republican administration. The candidates are Representative Earle C. Clements, Democrat, and State Attorney-General Eldon S. Dummit, Republican. Simeon S. Willis, the Republican incumbent, is ineligible to succeed himself.

6 IN SENATE FIGHT

In Mississippi six candidates are vying for the Senate seat of the late Theodore G. Bilbo. These include two United States Representatives, William M. Colmer and John E. Rankin.

The Philadelphia mayoralty race pits 49-year-old Richardson Dilworth, Democrat, against Bernard Samuel, 67-year-old Republican incumbent.

A three-way non-partisan battle is on tap in San Francisco. Candidates seeking the post now held by the retiring Roger Lapham are United States Representative Franck R. Havenner, Democrat; Chester R. MacPhee, member of the Board of City supervisors, and Superior Court Judge Elmer E. Robinson.

Detroit also has a non-partisan contest between Mayor Edward J. Jeffries, seeking his fifth successive term, and Eugene I. Van Antwerp, a city councilman for 16 years.

Cleveland's race finds Mayor Thomas E. Burke, Democrat, seeking a second term. He is opposed by Eliot Ness, Republican.

Quebec Textile Workers On Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Joseph Pelchat, publicist for the National Catholic Syndicates, announced today that 5,800 employees of the Dominion Textile Company in four plants throughout the province went on strike this morning and were picketing the plants "quietly."

The strike followed breakdown of negotiations here last week over terms of a contract recommended by a provincial arbitration board. The union accepted the recommendation, but the company balked on a clause suggesting employees should not be reclassified without the consent of goodwill committees in the plants.

Affected by the strike are Dominion Textile plants at St. Gregoire, near Quebec; Sherbrooke, and Magog and the subsidiary Dominion Cotton Company plant at Drummondville.

S.S. Lt.-Gen. Pohl Sentenced To Death By U.S. War Court

NUERNBERG (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Oswald Pohl, the swarthy S.S. officer who operated German concentration camps where millions died, was sentenced today to be hanged for war crimes and crimes against humanity.

Fourteen others were convicted and three acquitted by the United States tribunal, which ruled for the first time that a German S.S. operative could be considered innocent of war crimes if it was not proved that he knew the intent of the S.S. to be criminal.

Pohl, 55 and black-eyed, accepted his doom with a curtnod. In his days of power, he had accepted orders only from Heinrich Himmler, the Gestapo chief, tain, and Hitler.

The court said that in addition to Pohl, the following defendants were guilty of murders, tortures, deportations, enslavement of whole populations and plunder of property:

Gen. August Frank and Gen. George Loerner, deputies to Pohl; Gen. Karl Fanslau; Colonels Hans Loerner, Erwin Tschentscher, Max Kiefer, Franz Eirenschimalz, Hans Heinrich Baier, Karl Mummenthey and Hans Bobermin; Maj. Karl Sommer; Capt. Leo Volk; and Hans Hohberg, a civilian.

Convicted with Pohl and the colonels were three generals, a major, a captain and a civilian.

Acquitted were Colonels Joseph Vogt, Rudolf Scheide and Horst Klein. The tribunal ruled evidence was inconclusive in their cases.

The verdict declared the convicted men were "monsters of depravity."

India Invites Referendum Under Neutral Body On Kashmir State

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said Sunday night the Dominion of India is prepared to have a referendum conducted in Kashmir "under international auspices like the United Nations," once peace is restored in that princely state.

(Presumably the referendum would enable residents of Kashmir to decide whether they wish their state to be permanently attached to India or the Moslem Dominion of Pakistan.)

In a broadcast address Nehru also asked whether the invasion of Kashmir by Moslem raiders constituted a "violation of international law and an unfriendly act toward a neighbor country."

Nehru's government accepted the provisional accession of Kashmir a week ago and flew troops to help defend the state from the raiders from Pakistan's Northwest Frontier Province.

SIDE BY SIDE

Units of India's army are fighting beside Kashmir troops against the Moslem invaders. A Defence Ministry communique said Indian soldiers had engaged the Moslems in the Pattan area between Baramula and Srinagar, capital of Kashmir, and inflicted casualties and taken prisoners.

The Pakistan radio said Moslem patrols penetrated the streets of Srinagar Saturday.

The radio quoted this report from a communique issued by what it called the "free government of Kashmir," set up by the invading Moslems.

The latest official report from an Indian source said the Moslems at that time still were within eight to 13 miles of the Srinagar airport, chief base of India's Kashmir defence operations.

The government of India also announced it had sent in troops and "taken over the administration" of disputed Babariawad and Mangrol, "vassal states" of Janagadh whose princely ruler joined his largely Hindu-populated territory to Moslem Pakistan.

Conciliation Board Rules For Railway Against Employees

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal conciliation board has ruled in favor of the Canadian National Railways in a dispute with its employees in the sleeping, dining and parlor car departments, members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers (C.C.L.).

Chief question at issue was the union's request that the standard work month be reduced from 240 to 208 hours, with the hourly rate of pay determined by dividing the monthly rate by 208 instead of 240.

The majority report of Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor of Edmonton, chairman, and C. W. Johnston of Montreal, employer's nominee, recommended against the union proposal. J. E. L. Graham of Winnipeg, employee representative on the board, favored the reduction in the basis work month.

OVERTIME PAY

The board also rejected these union recommendations:

1. That overtime work be paid for at time-and-a-half for all work in excess of 208 hours per month. Mr. Johnston recommended time-and-a-half for work over 220 hours.

2. That employees be credited with continuous time less rest periods while dead-heading on railway business; held at away-from-home terminals beyond regular time; held out of service en route, and detained at away-from-home points on special movements.

At present, they are paid for 12 hours in each 24 while dead-heading and eight hours in each 24 under other circumstances. The board recommended they be given payment for 12 hours in each 24 in all of these cases. As requested by the union, they would have received payment for between 21 and 21½ hours a day.

3. That all work performed on statutory holidays be paid for at the rate of time-and-a-half instead of straight time as at present.

4. That there should be no graded rates for length of service for the classifications of dining car steward, dining car chef, cafe car steward, cafe car chef, second cook, sleeping car conductor, sleeping car porter, parlor car conductor and parlor car porter.

British Deny General Photographed Factory In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda today published a letter signed by four workers in a Moscow factory declaring Maj.-Gen. R. Hilton, British military attache, had been found taking photographs of the building.

The letter said the incident had caused "great indignation" at the factory, which was not identified.

Pravda said the man identified as Hilton had tried to "make a hasty getaway" when spotted by workers, but was overtaken by guards and brought before the plant management. It made no mention of any action being taken against him.

In London, a Foreign Office spokesman said Hilton was "detained for a short time" last Thursday, but denied he was photographing the factory.

"We can say quite definitely he was not in possession of a camera at the time," the spokesman said.

The spokesman said that according to a British report from Moscow, Hilton was dressed in civilian clothes at the time.

Asked whether any protest had been lodged either by Britain or Russia as the result of the incident, a Foreign Office spokesman said: "We regard it as a purely local matter, and any action that might be taken would be taken locally."

Oil Tanker Crashes Dock

Smashed pilings and decking show where the Imperial Vancouver struck the fish company's wharf. No fishing vessels were tied up at the dock.

Considerable damage was done to the Western Fish Co. (Victoria) Ltd. docks at the foot of Yates Street at 5 Sunday evening when they were rammed by the Imperial Oil Co. tanker Imperial Vancouver.

A group of men and women were employed cleaning fish when the ship struck the docks. Alex Thomas, foreman of the fish wharf, was the only one injured. He received a cut to the left forearm.

Witnesses said the tanker was passing under Johnson Street Bridge, heading for the outer harbor, when she swung to port instead of starboard and crashed the wharf with her bow.

Pilings were taken away and a derrick demolished by the collision. The fish company's building was knocked askew by the impact. The ship's captain has sent a report to the oil company's marine division and a surveyor is being sent over here to inspect the damage, a local oil company official said.

The ship apparently suffered no damage from the mishap and has continued on her way up the coast to Port Renfrew.

City police were called into the scene of the accident and Constables Jack Perry, Alex Nichol and Bonar Hannay attended.

Vandenberg Advises Separate Peace For Germany If No Other

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich) today advocated a separate peace with Germany if the Council of Foreign Ministers remains deadlocked through this winter.

While granting qualified endorsement to the Marshall Plan, the Senate president pro tem maintained that "Germany's restoration to viable autonomy is at the core of Europe's rehabilitation.

"It is infinitely preferable for the Council of Foreign Ministers to come to united terms," Vandenberg said in an address at a University of Michigan convocation marking the centennial of Dutch colonization of Michigan.

"But I am saying that disagreement—here or elsewhere—cannot be allowed to postpone peace, rehabilitation and self-government forever," he added. "Peace must have priority."

Vandenberg also urged a change in the United Nations' charter under which the veto would apply "solely to the use of armed force."

CRITICIZES COMMUNISTS

He attacked "world-wide Communist attitudes, which most of us believe are incompatible with . . . peace."

He warned that the United States "cannot indefinitely underwrite the world."

Finally, he demanded a "totally adequate American national defence," although he added that "I decline to proceed on the tragic theory that war is inevitable."

"I am unable to believe that a German peace conference could not preponderantly find common ground," he continued. "If the Council of Foreign Ministers still deadlocks this winter, it had better adjourn sine die (without setting a date for reconvening).

"The peace conference should be called by those who do agree . . . to write a practical, reasonable peace for the German areas within its jurisdiction."

Flies To Get $5,000

LONDON (CP)—The Evening News said today Derek Hyland, London marine engineer, was en route by air to Vancouver at a cost of £500 ($2,000) to collect £1,250 ($5,000) from a Vancouver bank.

"I have to present myself at the bank in person before I can collect the cash," the newspaper quoted Hyland as saying.

Planes Carry Aid To Quake Sufferers In Peru Mountains

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Planes bearing nurses, medicine and food were dispatched today to stricken areas in the mountains of Peru, where an earthquake shattered the peace of All Saints' Day Saturday, killing at least 50 persons and reportedly demolishing two Andes towns.

Government officials said bad weather and quake-ruined runways had prevented planes from landing in the affected zones, but added that if landings were still impossible today supplies would be parachuted.

Poor communications from the isolated mountain area where the quake struck obscured details of the damage, but official dispatches said San Ramon and neighboring La Merced, both about 130 miles northeast of Lima, had been "totally destroyed." Each town has a population of about 5,000.

Reports indicated the heaviest loss of life was at Satipo, 165 miles east of Lima, where dispatches said at least 40 had been killed and many injured.

Crushed By Auto, Island Man Dies

NANAIMO (CP)—When a jack slipped, Gordon Burns Carmichael, 55, locomotive fireman, was fatally crushed beneath the automobile he was repairing at his home near Cassidy on Saturday. Coroner W. H. Jones has ordered an inquest.

The body of Carmichael was found under the car by his wife, Bernice, when she returned from a shopping trip.

He was born at Nanaimo River and was an employee of the Comox Logging Co. railroad division.

Not On Fire But Considerably Put Out

VANCOUVER (CP) — They tried, but the fire still isn't out. W. S. Curley is still "hot" from the unexpected cooling-off he received Sunday.

Mr. Curley reported to police he was standing on a Vancouver street corner when occupants of a car sprayed his face and clothing with fluid from a portable fire extinguisher.

Luckily Mr. Curley was not injured, but he was considerably "put out" by the incident.

Libyans Want Independence Says Leader As He Visits Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — The people of Libya will resist the return of Italy to their country under any form of trusteeship, says Bashir al Sadawi, president of the National Council for the Liberation of Libya.

"We fought the Italians for 35 years," he said in an interview. "We have struggled against oppression and tyranny. We will continue our struggle with unabated strength and determination until we attain complete independence and unity of our country."

Al Sadawi, who said he had fought the Italians from 1911 to 1923, explained:

"We are not alone this time. We have the support of the Arab League. The kings and rulers of the league's seven member states, when they met at Inchass (in Egypt) in 1946, decided on the independence of Libya. They also decided to give us every material and moral help."

When the Italians overcame Libyan resistance, Al Sadawi said, he left the country and began seeking support in Arab conferences against "the tragedy of the Italian rule in Libya."

He is now, he said, adviser to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, who "gave me permission to come to Egypt and look after the case of my country."

TEMPORARY RULE!

Speaking of the present British military administration over Libya, he said:

"We do not care whether this administration is good or bad. It is a temporary administration. We are not asking for reforms, but we are asking for independence."

The only trusteeship the Libyans might accept, Al Sadawi said, is that of the Arab League, if a collective one is wanted, and that of Egypt if trusteeship under a single state is desired.

"We do not consider a trusteeship of Egypt or the Arab League as a guardianship in the sense the big powers understand. We are brothers with Egyptians and Arabs in general, and there is no difference between us."

Duchin Marries

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddy Duchin, pianist and band leader, and Mrs. Maria Teresa Winn of London, daughter of a former British diplomat, were married Sunday at the home of Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman. Only relatives and close friends attended the ceremony.

Palestine Police Dismissed After Probe

JERUSALEM (Reuter)—Palestine police headquarters announced Saturday that "certain police personnel" have been dismissed as a result of a three-month probe into disturbances in Tel Aviv July 31 after the terrorist organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, had hanged two British sergeants.

Five Jews were killed and a number wounded in "reprisal shootings" on that date by men described as wearing uniforms, the police statement said.

British army authorities in Palestine announced Aug. 7 that no British troops had been involved in the rioting a week earlier which followed the finding of the bodies of Sgts. Clifford Martin and Mervyn Paice, hanged by Irgun Zvai Leumi.

REBUFF TO SOCIALISTS

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS OUTSIDE THE metropolitan area of London always have been followed with more than passing interest by the political crystal gazers at Westminster. Experience has taught that the results often are illusory.

This is not to suggest that the impressive gains scored by the Conservative Party at Saturday's contests in so many key points should be underestimated. They show that so far as the man and woman on the street in many cities, towns and parishes are concerned—and this consolidated influence on the national scene is never lightly regarded—they have taken advantage of the first opportunity which has presented itself in a more or less national degree since the general parliamentary election in 1945 to speak their minds through the agency of the ballot box. Whether Mr. Attlee likes it or not, and the returns certainly will not please him, his government cannot fail to interpret this expression of popular opinion as a warning of the utmost significance to his ministry.

Mr. Churchill and Mr. Attlee are voicing their own particular opinions on yesterday's verdict. Britain's wartime Prime Minister is naturally jubilant. His former colleague in the ministry during the time of national emergency may see no direct threat to the life of his government. The former may be counting unhatched chickens; the latter may be blind to what his critics will tell him is the handwriting on the wall. Deep in the locker of coming events is the key to the future. Mr. Churchill and his colleagues of the official opposition may prove correct in their interpretation that the vast turnover of municipal votes from the Socialists to the Conservatives is surely the small cloud of anti-Socialist sentiment in Britain which, in the not distant days, will unload all its fury and engulf the pseudo-totalitarian concepts of government—to which even the present Prime Minister and several of his wartime intimates were, and still are, implacably opposed.

By the reverse token, Mr. Attlee, who was also born with the "silver spoon" in his mouth, the man who deliberately assumed the role of crusader with the thirst for knowledge of how the less fortunate people of London lived and had their being, may point to the 30 by-elections which his government has won since the general election of 1945, as a positive proof that the political hearts of the majority of voters have not changed in the two and a half years since they went to the polls to render a national verdict on the questions of the hour.

PAROCHIAL PARTIZANSHIP

MEN AND WOMEN WHO ENTER public life realize that they immediately become suspect, that they are "fair game" for the slings and arrows of every type of critic, and that all their efforts to serve the common weal are weighed on the qualitative scales of rabid partizanship. And those who may chance to disagree with an elected representative of the people—especially if perchance he or she may be holding high office—usually overload their weights and measures and short-change those whom they seek to impress. Take the following paragraph from a contemporary and contrast its leaden humor with the circumstances:

"The account of how Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King nearly missed the boat at New York on his way to England for the Royal wedding was hardly worth the cluttering up of telegraph wires with such a commonplace occurrence. It would not be the first boat that a political leader has missed in the postwar period, and by 'shopping.' And what was Mr. King doing in Manhattan with good Canadian dollars?"

And what are the circumstances? Mr. King has gone to Europe on an important and historic mission. Primarily, the occasion is one of high state significance—the acceptance of an invitation from His Majesty the King to attend the wedding of his daughter. All this is known. But it is the political jab at an incident linked with those circumstances which our contemporary makes that assuredly will offend the sensibilities and decencies of even the bitterest critic of the Prime Minister of this great Dominion of Canada. Mr. King "nearly missed the boat," Mr. King had been "shopping," and "what was Mr. King doing in Manhattan with good Canadian dollars?" We do not know how the head of the government of this Dominion was disposing of his "good Canadian dollars," but we hazard the guess, knowing some of the "weaknesses" of the Prime Minister, that he was expending them for the most part on something that may cheer the hearts of a few people in sorely-pressed Britain. That is just like him; he learned to build the superstructure of his adult philosophy at his mother's knee.

While it may be an utter waste of time and space to take notice of this type of parochial criticism, it is by no means out of season to draw attention to the growing practice on the part of one or two newspapers to belabor the man who has given the greater part of his life to the country of his birth, the man whose administration the people of Canada have endorsed at seven general elections out of eight since the end of the First Great War.

Follow the particular "beef" a little further. What are the Canadian delegates to the General Assembly of the United Nations at Flushing Meadows, and to the various agencies of that organization at Lake Success, doing "with good Canadian dollars?" They, too, are accepting the additional responsibilities which this nation assumed at San Francisco. Some of them doubtless have done a little shopping in Manhattan. But how dare the newspaper correspondents clutter up the telegraph wires with the doings of a Prime Minister whom the whole world acclaims as one of the great leaders of these troublous times?

SHORTAGE OF READERS

AN ANNOUNCEMENT OVER THE week-end by the Daily Tribune, the Communist newspaper which for the past six months has been published in Toronto, that due to a "continuous series of obstacles and difficulties" it might have to revert to its former weekly status, recalls the optimistic fanfare with which the venture was initiated. A mass meeting in Toronto last spring pledged thousands of dollars to the proposed daily publication. Supporters throughout Canada were to subscribe. The paper was to print the "truth" about foreign news, instead of the "hand-picked, highly colored versions" found in the capitalistic press. A series of meetings will now take place to discuss the advisability of "temporary suspension."

One source of difficulty mentioned by the Tribune is "the obstruction of the big daily papers." Another cause of trouble, according to Tribune officials, is that "the paper has been boycotted by the big advertising agencies." Readers of the so-called capitalist press will be surprised to learn that the Tribune had courted advertising, for it is the Communist claim that capitalist advertisers dictate the editorial policies of all the papers in the democratic countries. Another impediment was given as the rising cost of newsprint, a problem with which the capitalist press is also not unacquainted.

It appears that either there are not enough Communists in Canada to support a daily paper—a thought which carries its own welcome cheer—or else they do not think enough of the Communist version of news to buy it in preference to the other publications. In either case the publishers of the Tribune will do well to read the meaning between the lines of their own announcement.

UNTO THE THIRD AND FOURTH . . .

THE POSSIBILITY THAT EFFECTS OF the Hiroshima atomic bombing may appear in far-distant descendants of the current victims has been strengthened by a series of experiments in inheritable defects arising from atomic radiation. According to scientists of the California Institute of Technology, human deformities may be produced for the next 1,000 years as a result of exposure to the bomb.

The tests were made with generations of corn produced from seed which was subjected to atomic radiation at the experimental explosion at Bikini. The hereditary defects did not appear in the first plantings of corn, but became apparent in the second and successive generations. Since the same biological laws apply to human beings as to corn, the tests are taken as confirmation of the belief that descendants of persons affected may appear as morons, cripples and other types of deformed progeny. The atomic radiation causes vital changes in the chromosomal genes, which govern the procedure of inheritance in cell tissue.

If further evidence of the necessity of atomic control were needed, these experiments and their frightful conclusions surely provide it. Mankind has become all too familiar with, and callous toward, the slaughter of men and women which accompanies war. The lifelong crippling of bodies through torture, starvation or explosion has become almost a commonplace, despite the sympathy of postwar efforts to succour those so afflicted. But the thought of dooming future generations to mental and physical hell—inflicting on innocent posterity the effects of a conflict of which they may never even have heard—is a prospect that will cause revulsion in every decent-thinking man and woman.

The use of the atomic bomb on human beings has taken place. The results now are known. Let it be considered in the light of penance on the part of a nation whose cruelty in unprovoked war became a byword, if you will. But let there be no more of it.

NOTES

Keeping a dog instead of a child invites the same woes. It won't show off before company, either.

Knockers have become our favorite people, provided they do it with hammers on nail heads.

Some people are often hurt, and others, born equally sensitive, learn not to give a darn what people say.

It isn't true that the women fix up only to please men. No man ever liked those long, cat-claw nails.

Modern Health

From the Royal Bank of Canada Letter

SOME PEOPLE ARE inclined to brush off efforts to improve their health with the statement bad health is the inevitable result of the changed pace at which life is lived. Earlier civilizations had, relative to their stage of development, just as onerous conditions, just as exciting and worrisome experiences, but they were forced, by the lack of modern inventions, to have periods of inactivity.

As illustrations, consider the following: The absence of adequate artificial light forced many projects to be confined to daylight hours: now they are carried on into the night. The slowness of transportation gave much more leisure in traveling, though there was less comfort. The slow rate of communication forced transactions to be spread over a longer period of time. The dearth of professional entertainment—stage, screen, radio and others—left time for meditation and thought. The dispersal of a smaller population over rural districts provided fewer social contacts than are necessitated by today's urban crowding.

AS A PROMINENT physician said when discussing this subject: "Not so very many years ago the words 'meditation' and 'contemplation' commanded a good deal of respect. Some people published their 'Meditations,' and 'The Contemplative Life' was considered to be quite respectable and not without value to the community. Since then, in our Western civilization, the fashion has grown of putting more emphasis on 'doing' rather than 'thinking.' Many people have formed the habit of filling every waking hour with 'doing something,' so that they are incapable of spending an hour alone with their thoughts without being bored and unhappy."

PEOPLE, OF COURSE, deny that they are under tension or strain. They think that to admit being upset would be somehow degrading. They keep piling up grains of irritation, like the drunken Rip Van Winkle in Jefferson's play, who excused himself for every fresh tipple by saying: "I won't count this one." Well, he may not count it, but it is being counted none the less.

It is wrong to look upon emotional states as merely reflecting bodily states. They quite as often determine the well-being of the body. Not hard work, but bottled-up emotion is the corrosive force eating away many a man's health and tranquility.

LET'S MENTION WORRY as one ingredient in tension. Everyone knows that a man in laughing, cheerful, kindly, happy mood is less likely to be sick or fatigued than if his mood is one of discontent, grief or despair, but many persons who are doing important jobs find themselves in need of treatment because their moods are getting them down.

It is generally conceded that worry can be beaten if problems are honestly sought out, faced up to, and analysed. If the problem is actually your business, don't brush it aside. Tackle it. If you solve it, you have nothing to worry about; if it is a problem you can't solve after honestly trying, then you must write it off as you do a bad debt. Should the worry be about something that is not your business, or something remote about which you can do nothing, make a clean sweep of it out of your mind.

MANY OF US BECOME puzzled when, feeling badly, we visit the doctor and he tells us there is nothing organically wrong with us. Certainly, the suffering seems real enough to us. If it keeps up, even after the physician's assurance, it probably means that we are the victims of tension.

Trouble in your stomach or a pain in your neck or the feeling that you are coming down with pneumonia may all result from emotional unrest, and this, if neglected, may lead into nervous disorders of various kinds. The remedy sometimes suggested is to return to the simple life. It is said that while modern invention has relieved physical drudgery it has increased the nervous strain.

THE FIRST THING is to start both prevention and cure early, a principle emphasized in every one of our articles dealing with health. It isn't necessary to have a complete breakdown of the works before seeking an overhaul job. Even if all that is wrong is a personality kink, it's better to get it straightened out before it ties itself into a hard knot. Frightening pains and symptoms often do not arise until the damage is extensive.

If, however, something has hapenped, and it is too late for prevention, then action must be taken to recover the lost ground and prevent further slipping. Self-prescribed medicines, fads and cults may be harmless diversions, but they do not cure.

THE BUSINESS MAN having made up his mind that though he feels no aches and pains he had better take ordinary precautions by having a medical examination, may learn that he needs something more than medicine. He will find today's physicians qualified in this field. More and more people are gaining relief at the hands of regular physicians who devote themselves to rational psychotherapy.

The world does not owe anyone health or wealth: they have to be earned. Everybody wishes so to live that he shall extract the greatest satisfaction from living, and it is in this pursuit that the art of living manifests itself. Many people fail in the quest because they never clearly think out just what the most satisfactory things for them may be.

Private Enterprise Deal In Saskatchewan

By JAMES H. GRAY

THE Saskatchewan government last week made an announcement that may indicate a reversal of its policy of buying up privately owned commercial enterprises. It has granted a 21-year lease to crown-owned salt deposits near the town of Unity to an eastern chemical company. The company has started to build a $1,000,000 salt refinery and hopes to have the plant in operation by July 1, next.

The full terms of the lease are not available. But the fact that a deal has been made between the C.C.F. government and an eastern company to develop these salt deposits is significant. At the last session of the C.C.F. party in Saskatchewan, Premier Douglas was criticized because he had not taken steps to expropriate the private oil interests developing the Lloydminster oil fields. The decision of the Douglas government to hand over the salt fields to private enterprisers will undoubtedly set off noisy repercussions inside the party.

SEEK MARKET CONTROL

Behind the deal is a burgeoning struggle for control of the western salt market. Some 77,000 tons of salt are used annually, a market large enough to interest the biggest salt companies.

Last year a group of Calgary businessmen undertook to build a new salt refinery on the Saskatchewan River east of Edmonton. Engineers reported that the site was one of the finest in the country. A salt bed more than 800 feet deep and stretching for miles was located on one side of the river. On the other they located an immense pool of natural gas. Water from the Saskatchewan River will be pumped into the salt bed, the brine will be pumped out and the natural gas will provide cheap power.

CALGARY INITIATION

The discovery and decision of the Calgary group to proceed eventually reached the big salt companies in the east. They moved in on the Calgary group in an effort to obtain an interest in the new project. This was refused but negotiations are reported still going on.

At the moment, work is being rushed on the Calgary-owned refinery. Its sponsors are seeking market outlets and will undoubtedly supply most of the co-operatives in Alberta with their salt.

What adds to the gaiety of the development in Saskatchewan is the report that Premier Douglas and the Saskatchewan government are to use their "good offices" with the co-operatives in Saskatchewan to get them to handle Unity Salt, produced by eastern private enterprisers.

Whether the Alberta co-operatives have a financial interest in the Alberta refinery has not been disclosed. There is no doubt, however, that some of the men interested in the new refinery are close to the farm organizations.

NEAR LLOYDMINSTER

The Unity plant is located almost due west of Saskatoon near the Saskatchewan-Alberta boundary. It is almost adjacent to the Lloydminster oil fields and will likely get its power from there.

The question which troubles the faithful in Saskatchewan is this: This surely was the sort of thing that lent itself to government exploitation. If government enterprise is superior to private enterprise, why didn't the C.C.F. government take over these salt deposits and develop them? What became of the idea that social services in abundance for Saskatchewan could and would be financed out of the profits from government owned plants and factories? If eastern interests are prepared to spend $1,000,000 on a salt plant, isn't that an indication that there is likely to be a profit motive lurking in the background?

These questions will be indeed difficult for the C.C.F. government to answer. One explanation is that this is a sort of Saskatchewan version of Lenin's famous N.E.P.—New Economic Policy. After the revolution in Russia, the Bolsheviks encouraged private enterprisers to engage in trade—in order to get things moving. As soon as recovery set in, the private traders were expropriated. The big eastern chemical company, however, appears willing to take its chances to the extent of at least $1,000,000.

His Lot Is Not a Happy One

By SGT. LIONEL DAVID, Montreal Police Department, in the Police Constables' Review

IT would be very pleasant and gratifying otherwise, of course, but the policeman will always be unknown to those he serves. There is no provision for anything else. Justice itself can never show the true value of a man whose very job can't win him favor in the eyes of the general public.

It isn't too much to say that the policeman is resented even by the people he loves, his own family. He's expected to use his badge to settle interfamily differences, to have "a talk" with someone his mother-in-law doesn't happen to like, or to use his "influence" with the corner grocer to get hold of some rare item of food. There's nothing more unfair, but when the cop says no he promptly gets the cold shoulder. His family thinks there's something wrong with him.

TO BE USED BY FRIENDS

Then you move into the circle of close friends. That's even worse. And casual acquaintances are worse still. There's always someone who's having a little trouble with the law, and could the good officer, well . . . ah . . . have a word with the captain? Just to prevent the thing developing into a court case, y'know. Also it might mean, well, saving a few dollars.

The cop may be able to give some advice which settles the matter amicably with no harm done. If that's possible, he's a wonderful guy. But sometimes it can't be done without the policeman putting himself in a compromising position. He's embarrassed but has no choice. He says no. Of course he promptly goes down in the "friend's" book as unco-operative, unfit to be a public servant, a brainless no-good, and a lot worse.

UNHONORED, UNSUNG

Does the public, apart from a casual glance, have any feeling for the traffic man chilled to the bone by a screaming wind at the wide-open intersection; or broiling under the midafternoon sun, taking in dust and the stench of gas and oil as he tries to keep streams of traffic moving—or catches personal hell because some broken-down jalopy decided to jam things up by dying on the streetcar tracks in front of the bus terminal?

The hold-up sleuth or the homicide detective may have been wracking his brains day and night for a week, without a clue, without anything to help solve the case. But as far as the public is concerned he didn't come up with the right answer, so he's no good. That's all there is to it.

A policeman has worries of his own, just like anybody else. But his job is to take on everybody else's worries, too. Actually he works round-the-clock. His time isn't his own. Not any of it. His jobs are minor and major. He's expected to take care of all of them, and very often he hasn't the equipment and the facilities required.

Is the policeman justified or not when he asks for a salary fitting to the responsibilities he must assume? Is he asking for too much when he figures he should be rewarded because no part of his daily life is really his own?

SARTORIAL BATTLE

Alan Melville in London Calling

Now, just because a few persons in Paris—mostly men—have decided that it is time to create a new Plimsoll line, it is, 'apparently le derniere crie. It seems odd that at a time when we have less meat, less coal, less petrol and less milk, the only thing we should have more of is skirt. It seems odd to me that after all these years the ladies have not made up their minds on the subject. It is these vacillating half-and-half measures which reflect little credit on the female of the species, and is a source of constant irritation to the male.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

THE CONSERVATIVE victory in Britain's municipal elections Saturday to the discomfiture of the Labor government should not be taken as indicating that Britain is swinging to the extreme right but rather that the public is in process of trimming the ship of state so that it will list neither to the one side nor the other politically but will ride on even keel.

The Conservatives claim—and probably rightly—that the elections are a rebuke to the Socialist regime's management of affairs. The government was not only unable to avert the fierce economic crisis which now grips the country, but in two years of office hasn't been able to check it.

Things have gone from bad to worse until Britain is threatened with one of the greatest disasters of her long history. Moreover—and this is important psychologically—the people are under wartime regimentation, and the austerity of living conditions is so great that there is even shortage of such necessities as food, clothing and fuel. Mind you, Britons have amply demonstrated that they can stand any amount of austerity necessary, but the signs are they are wondering whether they are being handed a rough deal.

NO PLACE FOR COMMUNISM

There is, I believe, another significent element in the elections. They are held by informed observers to be a warning that there is no place in Britain for the Communism which is gripping so many continental countries, including France.

Basically, present-day Britain is fairly close to the middle of the road politically, with a moderate tendency to the right. That was strikingly illustrated the first part of October when, as this column pointed out at the time, the Socialist government swung a bit to the right and the Conservatives moved a little left.

Prime Minister Attlee appeared to recognize the need of political moderation when he shook up his cabinet and demoted Fuel Minister Shinwell, one of the most powerful left-wing leaders and who had charge of coal mining operations which are the crux of the economic crisis. About the same time the Conservatives, under Winston Churchill, advertised to the public that if returned to power in the next election they wouldn't denationalize the principal industries which the Socialist government has taken over.

TORIES JUBILANT

Of course, the Conservatives are jubilant and are demanding that the Socialist government resign and go to the country for a fresh mandate in a general election. Churchill issued a statement declaring that from now on the government "will govern without the moral support and against the will of the people."

However that may be, the Socialists decline to consider any such move. And why should they, when they have a big majority in the House of Commons? The Attlee government still has three years to run before a new general election will be necessary, unless a large number of Attlee's own followers should desert and vote against him with the Conservatives — which is most unlikely—or unless the Prime Minister for some unforeseen reason should decide to call for a new election.

Certainly the indications are that the present regime will carry on as usual, barring some unexpected development.

NO ALTERNATIVE

B.C. Financial Post

There is no practical alternative to Coalition government in British Columbia today. Two-thirds of the people are not Socialists and will not follow a C.C.F. regime, entirely apart from the far-reaching consequences of any such experiment as Saskatchewan is suffering from now.

FILM FLAM

Washington Post

Filmland, it is scarcely to be doubted, has its quota of Communists as of reactionaries, vegetarians, prohibitionists and fanatics in other fields. The movies, which pretend to be an art form as well as an industry, naturally attract some extremists. But anyone who has seen any appreciable number of Hollywood's products must recognize that the industrial considerations are very much in the ascendancy. This is to say that movies are made for money and that, in the main, they are made, therefore, to appeal to a mass audience and to reflect mass tastes. This is why, like the radio and the mass circulation magazines, they tend to stereotyped values, romantic absurdities and happy endings.

Dorothy Dix

PARENT TO BLAME FOR 'ADOLESCENTS' AVERSION TO HELPING WITH CHORES

One of the domestic scenes that we behold all too often is that of a tired and overworked woman wrestling with the kitchen stove or bending over the sewing machine, while her adolescent sons and daughters are sprawled on the couch reading the comic strip, or putting another coat of varnish on their toenails, or listening to the radio.

And this picture of home life is made still more realistic by being accompanied by a running chorus of: "Mom, hurry up dinner. I've got a date and my girl goes sour if she is kept waiting." And: "Mama, did you finish my party dress?" And: "Hey, Mom, are you falling down on your job? I haven't got a single clean shirt."

And if you ask one of these weary mothers why she doesn't make her big, strong, husky children, who are just overflowing with strength and vitality, lend a hand with the housework and save her some of the millions of steps she has to take in cooking and washing and cleaning that it takes to keep a home a going concern, you will invariably get one of two answers.

She will say; "I want my children to be happy and gay and carefree. I don't want them to have to work and be burdened with cares and responsibilities." Or else she will say: "It is easier to do the work myself than it is to get the children to do it. They act like persecuted martyrs if they are asked to wash the dishes, and they make a scene every time mopping up the hall floor is even mentioned; so it saves the wear and tear on my nerves and temper to do the chores myself, and let the kids get their exercise roller skating."

MOTHERS MONOPOLISTIC

And a third reason, though women never give it themselves, why children are not Mother's little helpers is because all women are monopolistic about their homes, and they don't want anybody, not even their children, interfering with their little set way of doing things. They don't co-operate with their children. They don't make the children feel that they have any responsibility toward their home and that family life is a partnership in which every member must do his or her part to make it a success.

Mother wants the children to run the errands and do the odd jobs, but the youngsters are not permitted to originate a plan and carry it through in their own way. Mother always steps in and bosses the job, and takes the credit for it if it turns out right. And that kills whatever enthusiasm the child has for it and his sense of responsibility for it.

For example: Mary has a real talent for cooking and would gladly relieve Mother of half the burden of getting the family meals, if only Mother would let her do it on her own initiative, but Mother won't. She lets Mary beat the eggs, but she makes the cake. Sally likes to sew and runs up miles of seams on the sewing machine, but Mother never lets her cut out or design her dress. And the result is that Mary and Sally just step out and let Mother do it.

And the same thing holds good with boys. They are made to do certain tasks, but they do not put their hearts in them because they are not their work. They get no credit for what they do and so they take no interest in it. But make a boy feel that he is on his own; that he is necessary; that he is an important member of the family, and he will work his fingers to the bone to make good.

So perhaps Pop and Mom, who complain that the children never help around home, are more to blame than the kids are.

Victoria Dancer In Ballet Russe Here Next Monday

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, representing the best in ballet since its arrival in this country in 1938, will appear at the Royal next Monday for two performances only, at 2.30 and 8.30 p.m.

The company of 125 artists and musicians is currently engaged in its 10th anniversary tour. The tour which began in September after their two-week engagement in New York, will take them to more than 75 different cities in 23 states and Canada before they return to New York in February.

Alexandra Danilova, most gifted and popular ballerina on the stage today, and Frederick Franklin head the company of artists which includes such outstanding dancers as Nathalie Krassovska, Leon Danielian, Ruthanna Boris, Mary Ellen Moylan and Robert Lindgren, who needs no introduction to Victoria, as he was born in this city, and lived here many years before leaving to join the major ballet companies of the United States.

Ivan Boutnikoff and Paul Strauss will conduct the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo's Symphony Orchestra.

DARLINGTON, Durham — A 10-minute morning service held daily in a laundry here for the last 25 years, helps start the day off in a "wonderful spirit," says R. Hodgkin, the firm's 70-year-old head.

BUDA AND PEST WERE UNITED 75 YEARS AGO

There was once a city called Buda, and across the river was the city of Pest. They joined together, and became Budapest. That happened 75 years ago.

Buda was the older of the two cities, dating back to the time of the ancient Romans. The Romans had a colony, there, a soldiers' camp with people who gathered around it.

During the Middle Ages, tribes of Hungarians swept down from the north. These people became the chief settlers of Hungary. They speak of themselvesas Magyars.

BUDAPEST CONTAINS MAGYARS

Close to 90 per cent of the people in present-day Budapest are of Magyar, or Hungarian, stock. Some of the other citizens are of German descent.

Pest has a shorter history than Buda, but it dates back more than a thousand years. Its name arose from a Russian word meaning "oven," and refers to lime-kilns.

On the Buda side of the Danube River a great palace with 820 rooms was built for Emperor Francis Joseph, who ruled Austria-Hungary until 1916.

PARLIAMENT BUILDING ERECTED

A finer and more important building was reared on the Pest side of the river. It was used by the Hungarian parliament, which made laws for the country. The work of building stretched over a period of 19 years, and was finished soon after the beginning of the present century. Many foreign tourists have exclaimed over its great beauty.

Budapest had a population of more than 1,500,000 at the time of a late census. Among the peacetime industries are the milling of grain, iron-working and the making of textiles and leather goods.

Budapest holds a place among the leading flour-milling cities of the earth. Heavily-laden barges pass along the Danube, bringing grain from country districts to the city, where it is ground into flour or made ready for export.

ADMIRAL RULED COUNTRY

When the Second World War broke out, Hungary was a "kingdom without a king." In 1920 the country was declared a monarchy, but no king was named. Instead a "regent" was appointed. His name was Nicholas Horthy, and he had been an admiral. The years passed without the naming of a king, and Horthy held his position as regent.

After the outbreak of the Second World War, Hungary lined up on the side of Hitler and Mussolini. Horthy wanted to keep his soldiers inside the country, but Hitler forced him to send several divisions outside the boundaries to fight against Russia.

RUSSIANS ENTERED HUNGARY

In due course Russian armies advanced into Hungary, and there was fierce fighting in and around Budapest. Many homes and public buildings were destroyed during the war, but the capital city suffered less damage than many German cities.

The Hungarians at last asked for peace. Horthy lost his power, and the "first free election" was held near the end of 1945. The election was won by the Small Landowners party. The Communists and Socialists won second and third places in the National Assembly.

Last year Zolton Tildy was chosen president of the Hungarian Republic. A man named Flerence Nagy became the premier.

BACKACHE

The Plague of Outdoor Men

The outdoor man, whether he be farmer, truck driver, or railway operator, is often subject to backache. This may be the result of exposure to cold and dampness or the result of strain from the jolting and bumping of the vehicle he rides.

To many people, women as well as men, it would be great to be free of backache—one of the most common and annoying of ailments. And here is how you may be relieved of backache and other symptoms of poisons in the blood.

The treatment suggested is Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. By reason of their stimulating action on both the liver and kidneys, you have two chances to one of getting relief from your backache by using Dr. Chase's Pills. The torpid liver is aroused to action, the kidneys are stimulated and consequently these organs help to purify the blood of the poisonous impurities which bring pains and aches and tired feelings.

Keep regular and keep well by using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. 35cts. a box.

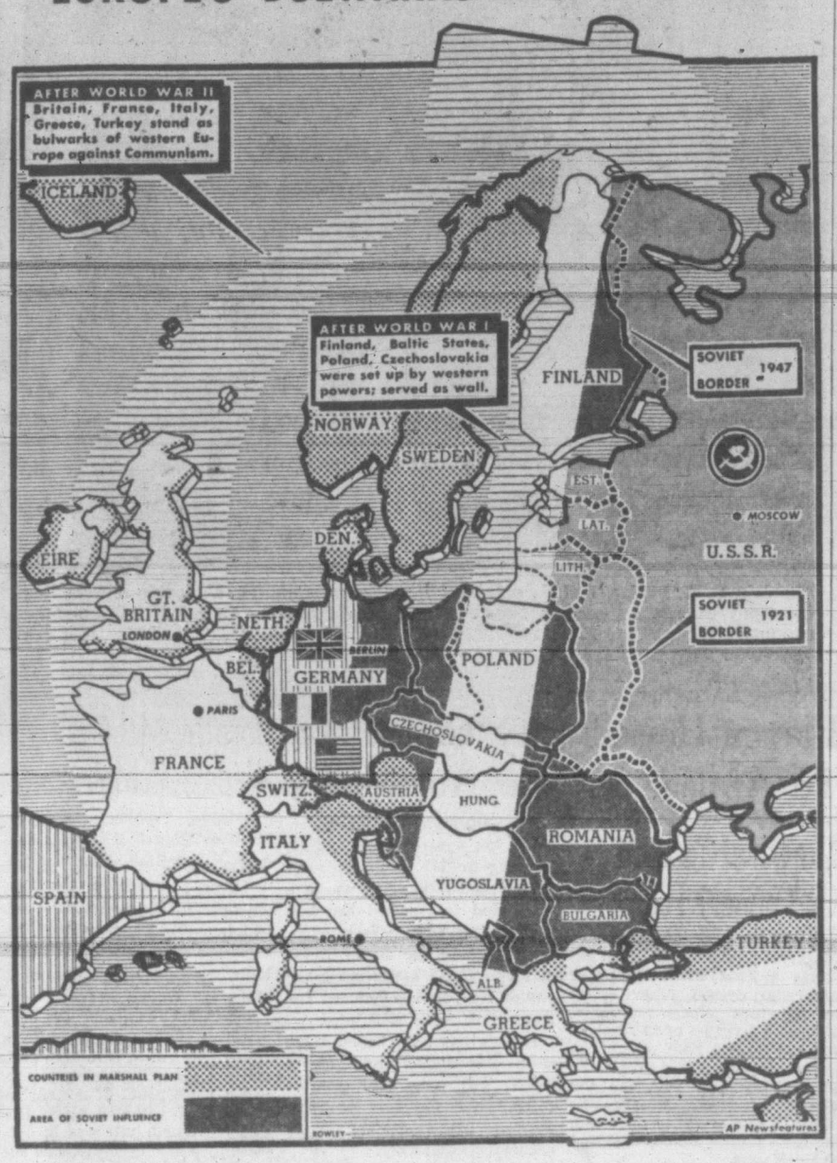
After Two Wars

EUROPE'S BULWARKS MOVING WEST



By ROBERT N. COOL

Soviet influence in Europe, now reaching farther west than ever before in history, provides a marked contrast to the situation following World War I.

In 1921 Russia's boundary extended no farther west than a line roughly from Leningrad, on the Gulf of Finland, to Odessa on the Black Sea. This boundary, largely determined by the Allies in the Treaty of Versailles, brought the Soviets up against a solid wall of states hostile to the spread of Communism.

In contrast, today the Soviet Union has recouped the territory lost in the First World War and its western border dominates the Baltic coast and the mouth of the Danube. Instead of abutting against unfriendly nations, it finds a certain continuance across the territory of the eight countries which have been brought into Moscow's orbit. These areas bring the zone of Russian influence to the centre of Germany and the Adriatic coast.

Italy, France and Great Britain have become the keystones of the bloc of states which now are seeking to rebuild themselves along democratic lines in co-operation with the United States. Greece and Turkey are the southern bastions of this Red-resisting line, which in the north also includes the Lowlands, Denmark and Scandinavia.

The western occupation zones of Germany are more and more tied in with the U.S.-aid plan.

DREAM ACHIEVED

In extending their own boundaries and building up an outer ring of sympathetic states, the Russians have achieved one of their historic dreams. Time and again they sought unsuccessfully in the past to hold the ice-free Baltic ports and to seal off the great invasion route across the Polish plains. The presence of "hostile" governments along their borders was a recurrent Russian complaint.

Only in the eastern Mediterranean has no progress been made along the lines of Russia's traditional aspirations. Turkey and Greece, bolstered with U.S. funds, still guard the gateway of the Dardanelles.

During World War I this prize was promised the Czar when Turkey was allied with Germany and Britain and Russia were fighting side by side. Then came the Bolshevik revolution; the Soviets made a disastrous peace treaty with Germany that was later amended in their favor by the final Allied settlements. But they did not gain the Porte.

In World War II Turkey remained neutral, and last spring the "Truman doctrine" made it clear that the United States would oppose the Communist reach to the Mediterranean.

GAINS IN NORTH

From a Kremlin point of view, Russia's current postwar gains are really notable in the north and in central Europe.

Finland, a grand duchy of Russia's in Czarist days, became independent during the Communist revolution. It was recognized by France in 1918 and by the Soviets in the same year. German influence was strong under Gen. Mannerheim who had landed 40,000 German troops in Finland in April, 1918. His influence continued powerful and in 1930 he led a general purge of Communists within the country.

The Baltic states, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania also were set up by the western allies out of former Czarist territory after World War I, Poland was recreated, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia were carved out of Austria-Hungary.

Of this period, the Foreign Policy Association reports: "All the countries along Russia's border from the Baltic to the Black Sea, with the notable exception of Czechoslovakia, were hostile either to Russia or its system, or both."

FRIENDLY REGIMES

As the Germans were driven back from their invasion deep within the Soviet Union, in World War II, old regimes toppled and new governments friendly to the Russians were established. Now these include Finland, Poland and most of the Balkans.

Even in the more stable democracies of France and Italy, after the war, Communist power developed formidably.

The situation became crystalized along the preesnt lines when United States' so-called "Marshall Plan" for rehabilitating the continent was proposed last June.

Most countries accepted it willingly, but those within the Russian orbit went on record against it. Now, after preliminary surveys and considerable discussion in the United States, the President has called a special session of Congress to help western Europe rebuild itself without falling into the Red-dominated bloc.

Pictured, following the ceremony, from left to right, are Lieut. (S.) J. W. Maxwell, R.C.N., and Mrs. Maxwell with their tiny daughter, who received the names Susan Jill, and FO. J. M. Flaxen-Haired City Child To Appear In The Nutcracker

Some little girl in Victoria, between the ages of eight and 11, is going to feel very soon as if a fairy godmother had waved a wand and transported her into the land of make-believe.

All because the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, appearing in the city on Nov. 10, has included The Nutcracker in its repertoire.

In this immortal ballet, there is a non-dancing role for a small girl who is escorted through the Kingdom of Snow and the Kingdom of Candy by an enchanted nutcracker.

Formerly, when the ballet has been presented, the child or an acquaintance of someone connected with the theatre has been chosen.

This season, in each city where The Nutcracker has been presented, an innovation has been arranged in the form of search for the little girl.

Apart from age specified, the little girl must, of course, be pretty and if possible, have long blonde hair.

Arrangements are being made for a city-wide search. Registrations will be taken at a downtown studio, then an audition will be held and winner selected by a panel of judges that will include a number of prominent citizens.

The lucky girl chosen will have the honor of appearing on the stage with many of the greatest stars in ballet, including Alexandra Danilova.

She will have a beautiful costume specially fitted and her make-up will be done by the ballet make-up expert.

Margaret Truman On Concert Tour

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Margaret Truman, who likes her skirts a little below the knee and who doesn't allow secret service men along on dates, planned a program of 12 numbers for her concert here tonight.

The President's daughter planned to open with the Voi Che Sapete from Mozart's Le Nozzi Di Figaro and to close with Padilla's Cielito Lindo, a catchy Spanish song.

Miss Truman's preference to skirts came in an interview she gave 24 aspiring high school journalists yesterday.

"Just below the knee is about right," she said.

Secret service men do not go with Miss Truman on dates.

"I settled that with them the first thing," she said. "If my escort can't protect me, then I'll do without."

Movie Star's Mail Reveals Many Facts

HOLLYWOOD, (CP) — You've never seen Myrtle Flynn's name on a theatre marquee and her picture doesn't appear in fan magazines but more letters pour into her office in a week than most people would get in three centuries. For Myrtle is in the fan mail department at a motion picture studio and with the help of five other girls handles an average of 10,000 letters a week.

She's been reading other people's mail for 15 years, but she hasn't forgotten her Canadian birth or her childhood spent in the Dominion. Born in Ottawa, she received most of her schooling in Vancouver and also lived in Calgary. Some day soon she hopes to visit her homeland.

She says her work is diversified and entertaining and "in all the years I've been in it, there's been something new and different every day."

She is thankful for one thing—she doesn't have to answer the letters. Both studios and stars rarely enter into correspondence with unknown admirers but they still send autographed pictures out for a small sum.

Myrtle says newcomers to the screen like looking over their mail because it's still a novelty and usually they don't get a great deal. But with old established players it's a different story—they couldn't handle their mail even if they wanted to.

There is a dose of variety in the letters received. Some ask for pictures, others for advice. Girls occasionally ask for clothes worn by the star in a certain picture. Other letters ask for money to lift a mortgage or pay for an operation.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brandson, 530 Oliver Street, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Ivy Margaret, to John James, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Anderson, 1721 Adanac Street. The wedding will take place quietly Nov. 8, 1947.

P.-T.A. News

Oaklands — Next meeting of Oaklands P.-T.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. N. R. Kennedy, 1390 Vista Heights, Wednesday, from 2 until 4.

Victoria West—The auditorium of Victoria West School was decorated with Hallowe'en motifs for the party arranged for school children by H. Dawson, principal, and members of the P.-T.A. Albert Denoni and his accordion led community singing; pupils of Miss Velda Wille presented a program of dances; Alderman Margaret Christie, Mrs. A. Mawer and Miss Isla Tuck acted as judges for costumes. Winners were Norma MacDonald, Linda Gent, Lucille Hull, Madeline Raven, Albert Henson, Jimmie Larson, Beverley Turner, Joan Rant, Joan Lucas, Pat Morgan, Donna Gust, Lynette Abercrombie, Loa Peters, Pat Curtis, Diann Hoege, Aileen Ferguson, David Simmons, Billy Barker, Malcolm Conners, Bill Sommerville, Clifford Allan, Beverly McLaren, Gladys May, Dorothy MacDonald, Kathleen Redman, Alice Webber, John Marsh, Bruce Tannock, Ronnie McKenzie and Roderick McMillan. Movies were shown and there was a treat for each child.

Dorothy McLean Weds T. L. Muir

Saturday evening at 8 in St. Matthias' Church, Rev. K. L. Sandercock officiated at the wedding ceremony at which Dorothy Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McLean, 1316 Thurlow Road, became the bride of Thomas Leslie Muir, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Muir, 488 Walter Avenue.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown, with high neck and net yoke, lily point sleeves, and a front panel of net ruffles in the full gathered skirt. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a halo headdress and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Her attendants were Mrs. G. V. Smith, as matron of honor, in pink, and Miss Hilda Grigg, in turquoise. Their taffeta gowns were styled with full skirt, fitted bodice, round neckline and short puff sleeves. They both carried arm bouquets of pink chrysanthemums and white carnations, and wore matching flowers in their hair.

George T. Muir, brother of the groom, was best man, and Jim Mowbray ushered.

Organ music was played by L. Partington, and the church was decorated with chrysanthemums for the occasion.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Muir received the guests. H. Barber proposed a toast to the bride. Reception rooms were decorated with autumn flowers, and a three-tier wedding cake centred the bridal table.

Leaving for a honeymoon on the mainland, the bride wore a pink gabardine suit topped with pearl-grey gabardine topcoat, and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Muir will make their home in Victoria on their return.

Moreen Caselton Gowned In Taffeta, Double-Ring Wedding

On Saturday evening in St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West, the marriage of Moreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Caselton, 1334 Burleith Crescent, to Paul Houston Bumgardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Bumgardner, of Newport News, Virginia, was solemnized by Rev. Douglas Kendall.

For the double ring ceremony, the church was decorated with baskets of large pink and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. George Petch played traditional wedding music on the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in water-weaved taffeta, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, lily point sleeves, and princess lines sweeping into a full skirt. Fastened to a Mary Stuart headdress was an embroidered floor-length veil forming a train. She wore a gold cross, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of red roses and bouvardia.

A trio of attendants wore gowns in Pastel shades. Miss Lorraine Mitchell, as maid of honor, was in pale peach taffeta, and bridesmaids Shirley Going and Gloria Caselton in pale blue and pale pink nylon respectively. All wore flowers in their hair, and carried colonial bouquets in pastel shades.

Glen Horton was best man, and ushers were Dick Dee and Frank Jarvis.

During the service, Mrs. H. Sheret sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of a reception following the ceremony, where Mrs. Caselton assisted the young couple in receiving the guests. On the lace covered table were bowls of pink and white carnations, and white tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with carnations. Rev. Kendall proposed a toast to the bride.

For traveling, the bride wore a grey-blue coat over a rose dress, with black accessories, and corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Bumgardner will spend their honeymoon in Vancouver and Chicago, and will reside in Newport News.

THE FOUR F's OF TYPHOID

CURRENTLY, the most common methods of spreading Typhoid are referred to as the four F's—food, fingers, flies and faces. In 1880, however, little was known about the disease until Eberth discovered the typhoid organism. Since then, research has disclosed the sources of typhoid and the ways it is spread. An interesting case, showing how the disease was spread with fingers, was that of "Typhoid Mary" Mallon, a cook. Wherever she was employed, typhoid broke out. It was found that she was a carrier of billions of typhoid germs! Today inoculation and improved sanitation have greatly reduced the threat of typhoid.

There may be many ways of spreading disease, but there's only ONE way of treating an illness . . . and that is the RIGHT way. Our pharmacists know only one way of filling prescriptions . . . and that is—the RIGHT way!

Cup Cakes Enliven Lunch

For the school lunch, cup cakes carry nourishment wrapped in welcome sweetness.

HONEY GINGER CUP CAKES

Two and one-half cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground ginger, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 egg, unbeaten, 1 cup honey, 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream shortening thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add honey and blend. Add flour, alternately with sour milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Bake in muffin containers or in paper-lined cup cake pans in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 minutes, or until done. Delicious served plain, or topped with whipped cream and chopped black walnuts.

While on the subject of luncheon for young scholars, here are some sandwich suggestions:

SANDWICH MAKING HINTS

Use a variety of breads. Spread butter right to the edges of the bread. Make a variety of sandwiches and cut them into different shapes for ease in identifying. Wrap each sandwich (or no more than two or three) in waxed paper.

MEAT SANDWICHES

Liver sausage, mashed and mixed with onion juice; topped with sliced hard-cooked eggs and mayonnaise.

Bologna, on white bread spread with parsley butter.

Canned luncheon meat, ground, and mixed with peanut butter or chopped peanuts and mayonnaise.

Special Snack-Bar Invites After-School Bite

An "exclusive" after-school snack-bar at home will delight the youngsters.

When children come home from school, let them have a snack of wholesome food, such as crackers or bread with peanut butter, cheese or jam, plus milk. Nutritionists agree that growing bodies need this after-school bite.

Arrange a special shelf or cabinet as the "snack bar." Let the youngsters do their own making and cleaning up. But keep the snack bar exclusively for them. They'll enjoy its "exclusiveness" and keep it in good use and good order.

Mother might mix up some wholesome but tasty spreads in advance to go on crackers. Such as:

BOLOGNA

One-half cup ground bologna, 1 chopped hard-cooked egg, 2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Combine all ingredients and mix well.

CHILI CREAM SPREAD

One-half cup cream cheese, 2½ tablespoons chili sauce.

Combine ingredients, mixing well.

Keep a supply of crisp crackers, tiny twisted pretzels, wheat toast, grahams, etc., in the snack bar.

PEANUT BUTTER WITH ORANGE

One-third cup butter, 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1 tablespoon orange juice, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind.

Blend peanut butter and cheese; add remaining ingredients; mix well.

Let's Eat!

Corn Muffins — ¾ cup sifted flour, 1¼ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ cup cornmeal, ¼ cup prepared apple, 1 egg, well beaten, ⅓ cup milk, ¼ cup honey, 3 tablespoons shortening, melted. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add cornmeal. Wash, pare, and cut apples into eighths. Remove core and cut crosswise into very thin slices. Combine egg, milk, honey and shortening. Add all at once to flour-cornmeal mixture, stirring only enough to dampen all flour. Fold in apple. Bake a well-greased oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes, or until done.

Bride's Rule—In making oyster stew for two, allow a dozen small oysters to a generous pint of milk. Add a bit of butter, plus a dash of salt for seasoning. And for color, a shake of paprika.

Jellied Fish Ring—½ cup cold water, 1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon onion juice, ½ cup mayonnaise, ½ cup diced celery, ¼ cup diced pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1½ cups cooked shrimp (sliced) or shredded cooked boneless fish. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot water. Add sugar, salt, lemon juice, vinegar and onion juice, stirring until dissolved. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into ring mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill. When firm, unmold and fill centre of ring with salad greens. Serve with any desired dressing.

A Little Ginger—Added to the seasonings for squash is worth a lot of remembering. All dishes made with pepper need plenty of pepper. And if you're bound to have beets, try a few whole cloves in the cooking. Make your spices work.

Dressing Up Ice Cream

The old-time ice cream socials were a delightful excuse for folks to get together and chat a bit. Today ice cream is still a drawing card whether the church choir is holding a [illegible] festival, or the family and some neighbors are coming [illegible] porch.

And if the ice cream is home-made, it tastes even more delicious. It's fun, too, to vary the serving of it. A fruit sauce, some chocolate syrup, crushed berries, a sprinkling of nuts, give tone, good looks and added flavor to plain ice cream. Now comes a new topping made of semi-sweet chocolate bits, chopped nut meats and bran. Because this Choco-Bran Crunch goes well with all flavors, you'll want to store it in your memory book.

CHOCO-BRAN CRUNCH

One 7-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate, 2 cups cereal bran, ½ cup chopped nut meats.

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add cereal bran and nut meats. Spread on greased cookie sheet and separate shreds with forks. Cool. Serve as a topping on puddings or ice cream.

Yield: 12¼ ounces (3 cups).

Can't Hide Dirt

WINNIPEG (CP) — Kenneth W. Riley, city water treatment chemist at Grand Forks, N.D., has invented a "rim viewing" device which intrigued delegates at the recent convention of Canadian sanitary inspectors here. The device is not likely to intrigue listless dish driers, however. It's a gadget for removing dirt and bacteria from the rims of drinking glasses. Says Riley, "It makes dirt stand out like a sore thumb."

To make her "stitch in time" save nine, the home seamstress should know when to use a long thread and when to sew with a short thread. For fine stitching and darning the thread should be about 12 inches long. For basting, the thread should be a few inches longer than the stretch of cloth to be used.

Cabbage-Celery Seed Salad With Lettuce

Six cups finely shredded cabbage; ½ cup finely chopped green or sweet red pepper; cream salad dressing; salt and pepper to taste; lettuce; ½ tablespoon celery seed.

Mix cabbage and chopped pepper, moisten with salad dressing and season to taste with salt and pepper. Pile lightly on crisp lettuce leaves, sprinkle top of salad with celery seed. Six servings.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix—I am an ex-serviceman, in my late twenties, much in love with a young girl to whom I am engaged. During our courtship she has never once told me that she loves me, but she accepted a very expensive diamond ring from me as an engagement ring. Since our engagement she has started nagging at me, telling me of my faults, how I should dress, etc.

She is a working girl and spends all the money she makes on clothes, and nothing pleases her so much as to be told that she looks like something that has just walked out of Vogue Mazazine.

I have a good job with a future to it, but I don't think I could keep her in clothes. I want a home and to settle down but all she thinks of is having a big time. Do you think that she is in love with me or just wants security?

BEWILDERED JOE.

Answer—I think that the girl is more in love with your pocketbook than she is with you, and that she is marrying you to get a man to support her. She is giving you a preview of the sort of a wife she will make, and your unhappiness will be on your own head if you go on with the wedding.

Dear Miss Dix—How can a girl keep people from talking about her when she goes steady with a boy? I am 16 and I know I am too young to think I am in love with him. But why should we be criticized when we do not do anything that is wrong? When we step out we are back home by 11 o'clock, and on Sundays when he comes to see me we spend the evening at home with my family. One of my girl friends, who is a fortune-teller, has told me many things that worry me very much, but so far none of them has come true. Do you think she is just saying that to make me quit him, or what?

Answer—Sounds like it, and as if she might be starting all of the gossip that is smearing you and making you unhappy. Your account of your and the boy's friendship is above reproach. But if, as you say, you are talked about, you will have to be unusually careful and not do a lot of things that may be innocent in themselves, but that can be twisted into having a different meaning. So don't pet in public. Don't hold hands at the movies, or let the boy put his arm around you. It isn't enough for a girl to be good. She has to look good.

Chinese Nationalist Drive On Reds Bogged Down

SHANGHAI (AP) — Government efforts to contain the Chinese Communists by force — a program which began in earnest soon after Premier Chang Chun took office a year ago—appear to have made little positive progress, foreign military men here said today.

Chiang Kai-shek's campaign, which began smartly with the capture of the Red strongholds of Yenan, Kalgan and Chefoo, has collided with superior Communist mobility and punching power, these students of warfare observed.

In marked contrast to the localized fighting in southern Manchuria and Shantung last November, the government armies now are forced to fend off the Reds on at least six fronts.

BACK TOWARD YENAN

Communist Commander-in-chief Peng Teh-huai has led his troops back to the very threshold of Yenan, the Red's former capital.

As the Chinese civil war wears on—it is now in its 20th year—the Communists appear to be gaining rather than losing ground. They have overcome the initial Nationalist advantage of greater fire-power and more modern weapons by using their arms with greater effectiveness and striking with speed and bewildering deception.

Government sources now estimate Communist strength in excess of 800,000 soldiers.

The prime battleground is Manchuria, where the Reds menace the important City of Kirin, the capital of Changshun and the great Hsiaofengman dam, one of the world's largest. There is little likelihood either side will attempt to destroy the dam, however, since the cities of Changchun, Kirin and even Harbin would thus be flooded.

LONG STRUGGLE

Military men pointed out that if the civil war follows the trend of the past 12 months, China must settle down to a long, hard struggle in which victory will be an empty one because of economic destruction.

Travelers returning from the Communist-held areas say Red morale is higher than ever and that the armies still appear adequately fed and well clothed, and are capturing arms and munitions in steady battlefield successes.

Setting the Pace

PROVIDING CANADIANS ... AND THE WORLD ... WITH PRIME QUALITY FISH

Even more than in other fields of industrial endeavour, the business of catching, processing and marketing fish is subject to constant change in technique and marketing trends.

Our objective is to make use of the latest equipment in harvesting the catch, and to process it in such a manner that it will retain peak quality and command distribution in all markets.

To achieve this goal, we exercise constant vigilance and make large expenditures to originate or adapt any operating methods which improve the quality of our product and the efficiency of our operations.

The combination of skilled British Columbia fishermen, modern processing plants and sound marketing knowledge contributes to British Columbia's prosperity by transforming our valuable fisheries resources into substantial payrolls.

T. W. S. Parsons Honored At Police Farewell Party

Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, who saw 35 years' service under eight British Columbia attorney-generals, was honored at a reception and dinner held Saturday night at the Empress Hotel on his retirement as chief of the Provincial Police force.

Commissioner John Shirras now holds the guiding reins of the force, while Mr. Parsons will take over the post as administrator of the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Senior officers of the force from various centres throughout the province and government officials, headed by Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, attended the farewell party.

Attorney-General Wismer presented Mr. Parsons with a silver tray on behalf of the B.C. government, while Commissioner Shirras officiated in presenting the retiring head with a silver cigarette case on behalf of the force.

Col. Eric Pepler, deputy attorney-general, presented Mr. Parsons with a certificate for 35 years of service. Sub-Inspector Joseph Russell of Nanaimo was also a recipient of a certificate from Col. Pepler. At his retirement dinner held last week in Nanaimo, Inspector Robert Owens of Victoria presented Sub-Inspector Russell with a clock and purse on behalf of members of A Division.

Commissioner Shirras was presented with epaulets.

Appreciation of the retiring chief's valuable work was expressed by Attorney-General Wismer, speaking for the government. The great development of the force during the last 35 years was stressed by Commissioner Shirras, Col. Pepler and Deputy Commissioner Roger Peachey. Mr. Parsons was lauded for his efforts in producing a smooth-working, efficient police machine.

Hughes' $25,000,000 Flying Boat In Air

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The $25,000,000 flying boat Howard Hughes built flew Sunday.

The maiden flight of about one mile at 70 feet above the choppy sea of Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor was as unpredictable as its millionaire builder and pilot.

Only Saturday he said the first tests would be only taxiing experiments, that he didn't expect to fly the giant craft—under construction nearly five years and subject of investigation by the U.S. Senate War Investigating Committee—until next March or April.

But on the third taxi run when Hughes gunned the eight 3,000-horsepower engines to speed the plywood behemoth to about 100 miles an our, it was virtually airborne.

"That felt so good that I just took it off," Hughes grinned.

9 Attend Meeting Of 'Democrat' Leader

VANCOUVER (CP) — Democrats are far and few between, W. R. Smith, leader of the Democratic Party, dejectedly told his audience of nine persons who came to hear him advocate Canadian union with the United States in an address here Sunday.

He urged his audience to grasp the opportunity if they were called to become a Democratic candidate.

Movie Output Increases

LONDON (Reuter)—Sir Alexander Korda, one of Britain's leading film producers, said today in a letter to The Times of London that "there exists no crisis in the British film-producing industry today, and work on an unparalleled scale is going on at the present moment." Sir Alexander said 20 first-feature British films were now in production, while only 24 first-feature films were being produced in Hollywood.

Practice Teaching Started By Students

A two-week period of observation and practice teaching was started today for 143 Normal School students. Seventy-two primary classrooms will be visited by teachers in training, working in couples.

This will be the first practical experience for the students in teaching, and they will, during the period, be visited several times by Normal School instructors.

The students have already visited the classrooms to which they have been assigned, so they could become acquainted with their supervising teacher and the children they are to teach.

9 Men of Vision...

PROVED THEIR FAITH IN CANADA

...130 Years Ago

1817 An exhausted Europe—torn by decades of war—was breathing more easily . . . two years before, the Napoleonic Wars had at last ended at Waterloo. In the New World, the three-year-old Treaty of Ghent had ended an attempted invasion from the south . . . and the peoples of North America began a friendship that is the admiration of the world today.

1817 . . . Sturdy colonists of British North America—half a million of them—were scattered over as many square miles. To the west and north lay another two million square miles, unsettled and untouched. Merchants and traders did their business by barter and with a hodge-podge of foreign currencies, whose changing values spelled chaos. Trade development languished.

INTO this scene came nine men of vision . . . nine English and Scottish merchants who realized that, without a solid financial foundation, the colonies could never reach nationhood. Together, they determined a course of action. With their own money and the backing of 209 other pioneering citizens, these nine men founded the Bank of Montreal, which opened its doors for business on November 3rd, 1817. Never once since then has the Bank failed to open on a business day.

AT the very outset, the Bank issued its own bills and coins. Here was Canada's first real money. The currency won immediate acceptance . . . goods moved more quickly...and the stability the nine men hoped for came rapidly. The people proudly welcomed this Canadian currency—and, as its circulation spread, so did the reputation of the new bank. Within a year of its founding it became the Government's banker, and its currency officially replaced the British money used by the Government up to that time.

JUST two weeks after the Bank started, Canada's first branch bank was founded . . . the B of M's Quebec agency opened—and, thus, the Canadian branch banking system began. The following year saw agencies opened at Kingston and York, now Toronto, and branches spread as the years went on. Hailed throughout the world for its strength and flexibility, this system of branch banking—begun 130 years ago—has proved ideal for a country vast in area and small in population.

BUT all was not easy. There were hard, trying days ahead—each decade had its ups and downs. From 1836 to 1840, Canada experienced a succession of bad harvests, political convulsions, commercial changes and failures. Rebellion had depreciated the value of property and seriously hindered the improvement and further settlement of the country. The Bank of Montreal survived only by the most careful use of its resources and the confident loyalty of its depositors.

RECOVERY was rapid during the middle years of the century. Then came 1867 . . . and a nation was born. But a trans-continental railway was a condition of Confederation, and now the Canadian Pacific had to be pushed through. To speed the construction, the enterprise was placed in private hands. The work went fast, and the last spike was driven five years earlier than expected. With faith characteristic of its nine founders, the B of M had backed to the limit this great national project.

1900—the century opened with a new flood of prosperity which lasted for more than a decade. Two more trans-continental railway systems . . . a great influx of new settlers . . . abundant crops . . . thousands of new industries—and then . . . World War I! Through the trying times which followed . . . the inflated days of the 20's and the depressed days of the 30's—through a second World War in our time . . . Canadians worked and fought, and Canada became a world power.

1947—Peace . . . new plans . . . new hopes . . . rehabilitation. Life in Canada still takes work, courage and, above all, vision . . . the kind of vision which spurred nine men to pioneer the nation's economy 130 years ago. From a corporal's guard in 1817, the staff of the B of M has grown to an army eight thousand strong . . . working closely with Canadians and their industries in hundreds of communities from coast to coast . . . supplying the lifeblood of credit to an expanding nation . . . seeking always—through sound counsel and friendly service—to give practical help to the million and a half customers who put their trust in the Bank.

What of Tomorrow...? Just as history foreshadows the future, so the record of Canada and of her first-established bank working together gives promise of bright tomorrows for the nation. "The twentieth century belongs to Canada" . . . and for that future we pledge ourselves anew to work constructively with Canadians in every walk of life.

BANK OF MONTREAL

Canada's First-established Bank

GEORGE W. SPINNEY, C.M.G., President B. C. GARDNER, Vice President and General Manager

B. C. and the B of M Have Grown Up Together

In 1886, spinning history with every turn of its wheels, a Canadian Pacific Railway train rolled all the way from Montreal to Port Moody—12 miles from Vancouver. Canada's first continent-spanning railway had flung wide open the doors to the West.

The swift colonization of Western Canada from that moment on endorsed the Bank of Montreal's vision in backing this tremendous project.

The Bank of Montreal forged yet another link between the East and the West—one year after this historic run to the Pacific—by opening a branch in Vancouver City.

Today, the B of M serves the people of this progressive province through 61 branches and is constantly adding to this number.

Victoria Symphony Season Will Open Tomorrow At Royal

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Eagerly anticipated for some weeks, the Victoria Symphony Society's seventh season will open tomorrow night at the Royal Theatre, with the orchestra under the baton of Melvin Knudsen, playing a bright and appealing program.

This concert is almost certain to prove one of the most popular of the entire season, featuring as it does, Canada's widely-known and loved concert pianist, Gertrude Huntley Green, whose virtuosic musicianship has won her the highest praise of outstanding musicians on this continent and in Europe. With the orchestra, Mrs. Green will perform the beautiful and all too seldom heard Concerto in E major by Moszkowski. This work will form the brilliant climax for a program which is to open with Nicolai's overture to "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Nearly 100 years after his death, this zestful, happy music alone has endowed its composer with immortality. It is interesting to record of Otto Nicolai, that he was founder and director of the historic Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra and that his death followed shortly after the introduction at the Berlin Opera, of his successful "Merry Wives of Windsor."

The first Peer Gynt Suite of Edvard Greig is next on the program. Ibsen himself commissioned the youthful Greig to write incidental music for the symbolic fantasy and the resulting 22 compositions not only contributed largely to the triumph of the play but when the best were gathered into two symphonic suites they, and especially the first, brought the composer world-wide fame.

In the third item, two polkas are contrasted: "The Age of Gold" by Shostakovich and the "Thunder and Lightning" by Johann Strauss. Shostakovich satirized Fascism and decadent capitalism in his ballet, "The Age of Gold," and it is particularly arresting to note that the Polka is intended as an acidulous musical comment on the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

The beautiful ballet music from Ponchielli's opera "La Gioconda," is among the world's best. From this work, the orchestra will play the immensely popular "Dance of the Hours."

No one who has followed the progress of the orchestra through six years of life will fail to be happy over the strength, confidence and zest with which it is facing the seventh season. Mr. Knudsen will conduct a more closely integrated, more brilliant-toned orchestra through Tuesday night's concert and those who are to hear the Victoria Symphony for the first time, may be assured in advance of a thoroughly rewarding experience.

College Ruggers Score First Try In Win

O'Connor's Scoring Marks Rangers' Wins

"Good things come in small packages" is a saying that might apply to Herbert William O'Connor of New York Rangers.

H. W.—or Buddy, as he is generally known—is one of the mites of the National Hockey League. Drape him in a damp towel and stick him on the scale in the Rangers' dressing room and it isn't likely that the indicator will go much over the 145 mark.

But Buddy, unassuming and likeable and a veteran of six seasons in the N.H.L., is no lightweight when it comes to hockey savvy. Never a prolific scorer with Montreal Canadiens, who traded him to Rangers before the start of the present season, O'Connor nonetheless was a better-than-average producer.

At any rate, O'Connor appears to have found his niche with Rangers. The slim centreman was a standout performer for Frank Boucher's men from Manhattan in two week-end victories, a 4 to 3 triumph Saturday night over Detroit Red Wings and a 7 to 4 lacing handed Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night.

O'Connor picked up a solid seven points in those two victories, No. 2 and No. 3 of the season for Rangers. Against Wings he scored one goal and helped in two others. His performance against Leafs was even more noteworthy as he racked up thre goals and an assist on the Stanley Cup champions.

RACE TIGHTENS

Wings used a Sunday night triumph over Boston, 2 to 1, to go into a first-place tie in the standing with Bruins, who managed a 1 to 1 draw with Leafs Saturday night. Montreal Canadiens pushed into a tie with Leafs, one point away from Bruins and Wings, by handing Chicago Black Hawks a 4 to 2 setback Sunday night. It was Chicago's sixth defeat in as many games.

Veteran Bryan Hextall ran O'Connor a close second for New York scoring honors in the two games, with two goals and three assists.

One of Hextall's goals came against Leafs and he also aided in two other scores in the New York-Toronto contest. Ed Slowinski, Neil Colville and Grant Warwick were other Ranger scorers against Leafs. Toronto marksmen were Bud Poile, with two, Nick Metz and Wally Stanowski.

In the New York-Detroit clash, Rangers earned the victory with a goal by Warwick with a little less than four minutes to play. Phil Watson, Hextall and O'Connor marked up the other Ranger tallies, while the Detroit scores went to Syd Abel, Jim McFadden and Ted Lindsay.

Rookie Max McNab and Bep Guidolin clicked for the goals in Detroit's victory over Bruins, whose tally went to Wally Wilson.

GAMBLE PAYS OFF

Bruins made good on the gamble of yanking goalie Frank Brimsek in the last seconds of their Saturday night contest with Leafs. Down the game's lone goal, scored by Harry Watson in the second period, Bruins brought Brimsek to the sidelines and the strategy paid off in a goal by defenceman Murray Henderson.

Elmer Lach, with a pair, Rocket Richard and Bobby Carse were Canadiens' scorers against Hawks, who counted goals by Cy Thomas and Hank Blade. A free-for-all fight broke out in the last minute, out of which Butch Bouchard of Canadiens drew a match penalty for punching referee George Hayes. Four other players received major penalties.

Mustangs Drop Second Game To Port Angeles

Using to full advantage their extra weight and experience, Bill Warren's Port Angeles Stags again proved superior to Victoria Mustangs by taking Saturday afternoon's football fixture by a score of 12 to 7. Victory for Stags marked the second defeat of Mustangs suffered at the hands of the boys from Washington.

Stags wasted no time in chalking up their first score. Starting from their own 20-yard line and led by ball carrier H. Eldridge, Stags marched up the field with six first downs to score on a pass from Eldridge to team captain Henry Myren in the end zone.

Stags continued to dominate play in the quarter but were prevented from scoring.

Mustangs came back strong in the second quarter to earn their points for the day. End runs by captain Steve Ryoski, line plunges by fullback Herb Alexander and some accurate passing by quarter-back Toad Garnet put the locals in scoring position. Garnet made the first bid with a run around left end but was stopped. After hitting the turf, Garnet was trod on by a Stag player and a charge of "unnecessary roughness" was laid. The penalty moved the ball to the one-yard line. The next attempt was a line plunge which was stopped cold. But George Harper, Garnet's replacement, crossed the line on a plunge in the following play.

MUSTANGS LEAD

Rynoski scored his kick for the extra point to put Mustangs ahead 7 to 6.

Mustangs kicked off to open the second half and the ball reached the Port Angeles two-yard line before being picked up. Stags used a shifting T-formation in the march upfield and reached Victoria's 20-yard line before loosing possession of the ball. Mustangs got nowhere with their downs and the quarter ended with Stags' ball on the nine-yard line.

As the final quarter opened, Mustangs held the Stags for three downs only to have J. Baker elude his tackler and pull down Eldridge's pass to the end zone to put Port Angeles ahead 12 to 7.

Mustangs fought back gamely in the remaining minutes of play but met with little success in getting past the defensive blocking of the Stags.

U.S. Golfers In Rout Of British Cup Squad

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Britain's bid for the Ryder Cup in the first revival of the classic golf competition in 10 years failed yesterday when the United States team scored a smashing 11 to 1 match victory.

It was the worst beating a British team had sustained in the history of the event.

The Americans completed the route yesterday by winning seven of the eight singles events in the wake of sweeping all four Scotch foursomes Saturday.

The United States took possession of the gold Ryder Cup for the fifth time in the seven times it has been at stake since the initial competition in 1927. The Americans also won in 1937, the last previous battle for the trophy.

Only Sam King saved the day—and the humiliation of being stopped on every front—by capturing his singles contest yesterday. The 36-year-old Englishman, professional at the Wildernesse Golf Club, defeated Herman Keiser, 4 and 3, in the eighth and final match. Keiser was an alternate who did not play in the two-ball foursomes but was named to the singles by team captain Ben Hogan, who withdrew in his favor.

AMERICANS TOO GOOD

Britain's players were disappointed over their showing but took time out in the locker room to congratulate the Americans.

Cmdr. R. C. T. Roe, manager of the British team, said "The better team won."

"Your players were magnificent. The game was won and lost on the greens and we just could not match you there."

Dai Rees, Eric Green and Reg Horne will now fly to Hawaii for a series of exhibition matches. Henry Cotton, Fred Daly, Jimmy Adams and Art Lees will go to Vancouver Tuesday for an exhibition match. They will go on to Spokane, Wash., for another match and reach Chicago by Nov. 16, where Daly, British open champion, will play a match with Lew Worsham, United States open champion.

The two-day results went as follows:

SINGLES

E. J. Harrison, U.S.A., defeated Fred Daly, 5 and 4.

Lew Worsham, U.S.A., defeated James Adams, 3 and 2.

Lloyd Mangrum, U.S.A., defeated Max Faulkner, 6 and 5.

Ed Oliver, U.S.A., defeated Charles Ward, 4 and 3.

Sam Snead, U.S.A., defeated Henry Cotton, 5 and 4.

Byron Nelson, U.S.A., defeated Art Lees, 2 and 1.

Jimmy Demaret, U.S.A., defeated Dai Rees, 3 and 2.

Sam King, Britain, defeated Herman Keiser, 4 and 3.

FOURSOMES

Oliver-Worsham, U.S.A., defeated Cotton-Lees, 10 and 9.

Snead-Mangrum, U.S.A., defeated Daly-Ward, 6 and 5.

Hogan-Demaret, U.S.A., defeated Adams-Faulkner, 2 up.

Nelson-Herman Barron, U.S.A., defeated Rees-King, 2 and 1.

Bremerton Jackets Work With Oakland

BREMERTON, Wash.—Alan Strange, manager of the Bremerton Bluejackets in the Western International Baseball League, announced today that arrangements had been completed for a player tie-up with Oakland Acorns of the Coast League.

Strange said Oakland has agreed to send at least six players to Bremerton next year and the Bluejackets will have the pick of those failing to make the grade at the Oaks' spring training camp.

Navy Beats Bays In Intermediate Soccer

Intermediate soccer here Saturday saw Navy score a convincing 4 to 1 triumph over Oak Bay. Bays received a tough break when centre-half Ken Richards was taken off with a badly twisted ankle.

Bays hald a one-goal advantage in the opening session when Glen Smith banged home Johnny Rice's rebound. Frank Greely missed a good opportunity to put Oak Bay two up when he failed to convert a penalty shot just before the breather.

Dick Murray tied the issue for Navy early in the second half. Smith missed a chance to put Bays ahead when his shot glanced off the upright. Navy began to apply the pressure and during the last 30 minutes of play, Gordy Morton performed the hat-trick, giving Navy their three-goal edge.

Jackson, Clarke Pace 'Y' Cagers To Victory

Y.M.C.A. cagers, putting on a great offensive in the last half, gained their revenge over K.V.'s Saturday night, marking up a 42 to 36 win. Game was a thriller all the way. Canadian Legion, other squad in the loop, see action for the first time Wednesday night.

Opening games saw Spencers edge Victoria College, 23 to 20, in an intermediate B boys' game, and the senior B tussle end up with Navy coming out on the top of Esquimalt, 31 to 22. For Navy, it was their third straight win, putting them into a first-place deadlock with K.V.'s.

First quarter opened strongly with numerous fouls being called. K.V.'s had the edge in free shots, counting seven of their nine tries, to hold an 11 to 7 lead. Second session proved to be much cleaner and faster, and K.V.'s took an early 19 to 9 jump. K.V.'s kept up their offensive, to lead by 12 points, but three quick baskets by "Y" brought the margin closer, K.V.'s leading 25 to 19 at the half.

Duff McCaghey scored a picture goal for K.V.'s to offset Clark's for the "Y" lads, and then the eventual winners came back strong to close the gap considerably. Play roughened up and K.V.'s held a slim 29 to 28 advantage going into the finale. Busher Jackson put the "Y" into the lead for the first time, sinking a pair of gift shots. Clarke added a field goal to give "Y" a 32 to 29 lead. Pace speeded up and winners moved ahead by five points midway through the quarter. Baxter went on a rampage for K.V.'s, sinking a pair of field shots and a foul, but the flying "Y" squad remained on a sustained attack to hold a six-point lead at the final bell.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Sailors were never headed in their affair against Esquimalt, although they held a slim 15 to 11 lead at the half. Winners increased their margin by 10 points at the end of the third, but Esquimalt showed to their best in the last quarter, out-scoring Navy, 8 to 6.

Johnny Fields paced Spencers to their win over the College lads, looping 10 points. Vikings led the affair right up till the last quarter, when Spencers scored 11 points, holding students to three.

Tonight's games will pit Canadian Scottish against Alcos, senior B entries in the feature game at 9, and preliminaries will see K.V.'s Blues and Canadian Legion, midget squads, tangle in the opener at 7, with First United and Tillicums of the intermediate B loop hooking up an hour later.

Teams and scores follow:

Canadiens Turn Down Deal With Chicago

MONTREAL (CP)—General Manager Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens said today Chicago Black Hawks have offered left-winger Adam Brown in a deal which is "too hazy and unreliable."

Selke didn't reveal details, but it is believed Hawks still are after defenceman Hal Laycoe, whom Canadiens sent to Buffalo at the start of the season. Chicago, still without a victory in the new National Hockey League season, has been casting about frantically for a defenceman.

Foul Bay Gridders Trounce Oak Bay; Collegians Win

Foul Bay Packers, after losing their opening game of the season last week, came back strong yesterday to register a 15 to 0 verdict over Oak Bay Goblins in a Canadian grid fixture. Packers opened the scoring early in the affair, charging down to the 15-yard line and Roy Erickson tossed a pass to Ralph Toews who went over for the points.

Jack Robinson scored the second touchdown for Packers when he intercepted a Goblin pass to race 12 yards for the score. Conversion failed again. Oak Bay came to life in the second half with John Shipley and Jack Utting making their way to the midfield strip. Ken Higgs tossed a long pass to Ken West on the 18-yard line, who attempted a field goal, but Packers succeeded in blocking the try.

Final score saw Bhagat Singh toss a pass to Toews who completed his second touchdown of the game, giving Packers their well-earned victory.

In the opener, St. Louis College of the juvenile loop, captured a 5 to 0 decision over J.B.A.A.

College Vikings Score Impressive Rugby Win

Completely out-playing and out-manoeuvring their older opponents, Victoria College entry in the senior rugby loop, pinned an 11 to 5 verdict on Canadian Scottish in the season's inaugural here Saturday. Intermediat game on the lower field saw Oak Bay Wanderers run roughshod over Victoria College, 20 to 6.

Senior game was severe all the way, and players from both sides had a tough time and minor injuries popped up at regular intervals.

Students opened with the whistle, penetrating deep into Scottish territory, but the defenders forced play to the mid-field section before sustaining another vigorous college flurry. However, the Scots managed to hold off a score until five minutes from the breather when Robin Harrison counted as a result of a one-yard scrum. Conversion attempt failed.

Second half was just two minutes old when Vikings went six points up, Geoff d'Easum, Vancouver import, tallying the points after a dash from the 20-yard marker. Impressed by their lead, Collegians uncorked another offensive, driving losers back to the end zone again. Play roughened and a couple of the lads made the move to square off before thinking it over.

SKILLINGS SCORES

At the 30-minute mark, Vikings tallied their last points, Balfour Skillings making a lovely run from the 35-yard strip to notch the try. Jack Gibbs converted, giving winners an 11-point advantage. Shortly before the whistle, Spike Dalziel set Bill Pickard in the clear and the three-quarter saw his chance to score a triplet for Scots. Harry Olsen booted the pigskin between the posts for the extra points.

Oak Bay marked up their second straight victory in trouncing the College lads on the lower pitch, on the strength of a strong offensive in the latter half. Bays led 6 to 3 at the breather. Beaton, Lorne Prevost, Colin Blythe, McNeil and Young scored tries for Oak Bay, with Jimmy Mill booting a penalty and a conversion. Jim Robertson and Stone scored for the College fifteen.

Eagles, Heaneys In Soccer Victories

Eagles and Heaney's of the juvenile soccer division one loop, marked up shutout victories yesterday, the former defeating Esquimalt, 5 to 0, and Heaney's trouncing Marigold-Colquitz, 6 to 0.

Eagles held a 2 to 0 lead at the close of the first half on goals by McGee and McEvay. McEvay notched all the counters in the last half. In the Heaneys-Marigold game, Mel Sillars with two, Ralph Shandley, Bruce Madeley, Phil Wilkinson, and Cedric Robb scored.

Saturday's games saw Jubilee Pharmacy trounce Quarter Cab, 4 to 1, to protect their undefeated record in the division two section. Veterans of France captured the other second division tilt, edging Esquimalt, 1 to 0. Only division three match saw Pacific Meat edge Rangers, 1 to 0. In the fourth division, St. Louis College notched a 3 to 1 win over Esquimalt Transfer, and Tillicums blasted Fairbridge Farm School, 10 to 1. Balmoral Thistles whitewashed Burnside, 8 to 0, in a division five encounter.

Joe Louis Anxious For Three Fights

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Joe Louis arrived Saturday for his title bout with Jersey Joe Walcott and told friends he planned to risk his crown twice next spring if he succeeds in defending it against the Camden, N.J., challenger at Madison Square Garden Dec. 5.

"If I whip Walcott, I want to fight again in March and again in June," Louis disclosed.

"Gus Lesnevich and Ezzard Charles loom as the likeliest contenders after Walcott."

Oak Bay, Esquimalt Win Senior Soccer Matches

Oak Bay and Esquimalt came through with impressive victories in first division soccer matches over the week-end. After the Bays had set back Victoria West 4 to 1 Saturday to move into first place, Joe Watt's Esquimalt eleven knocked over Canadian Legion 3 to 2 Sunday to gain a tie for second place with the Wests and drop their opponents into the cellar.

Halfback Ronnie Webster's goal late in the second half provided the winning counter for Esquimalt. With the score tied 2 to 2 and time running out, Webster got his head to Shubrooke's centre from a corner to score the clincher.

Played on a heavy ground with a wet, slippery ball, the match saw plenty of miskicking and both goals subjected to dangerous attacks. Legion were unfortunate not to get the tieing goal in the last five minutes when one drive rattled the crossbar and another struck the bar and rebounded out in front of the goal.

Esquimalt opened the scoring, right-winger Shubrooke heading the ball between the uprights. Legion soon took up the offensive and Brown tied the score. Shortly after Carmichael made it 2 to 1 for the Legion but before half-time Boyd took a pass from Shubrooke to find the net and leave the teams on even terms at the interval.

SCORES FOUR GOALS

Centre-forward Stan Wiseman's four-goal scoring spree marked Oak Bay's triumph over the Wests. With the Wests fielding only 10 men in the first half and further weakened through the absence of several regulars, Oak Bay grabbed a 3 to 0 edge at half-time. With the greenshirts at full strength for the final 45 minutes each club registered a goal.

With Chuck Restell, Roy Okell and Erickson missing and one player short, the Wests were on the defensive the greater part of the first half. Wiseman put the Bays in front in the opening minutes, taking a long pass through the middle from Wright and slipping the ball past Clarkson in the Wests' goal. Still keeping up the pressure Wiseman made it 2 to 0 after 20 minutes and 10 minutes later added his third goal, converting his own rebound after Clarkson had made a grand save. Wests forced the play in the final 10 minutes and Hutchinson, Hudlin and Gent came close with hard drives.

Bobby Bell came on at fullback to bring the Wests to full strength in the second half, but the greenshirts were only able to score a single goal, Cooper finding the net. Wiseman's fourth counter for the Bays came from a penalty given for hands. Gent missed a penalty given the Wests for the same offence.

Winnipeg Bombers Solid Choice For Grid Crown

While Winnipeg Blue Bombers took a stranglehold on the western Canada football title, the east's Grey Cuppers disposed of all business during the week-end but the formality of finishing out one schedule before starting the elimination playoffs leading to the Dominion final.

The Bombers became heavy favorites to enter their third straight east-west final by whipping Calgary Stampeders, 16 to 4, at Winnipeg. That means they'll take a 12-point lead into the second game of the two-game total-point series, scheduled for Calgary Nov. 11.

Whether Winnipeg will meet their old sparring mates in the final began to look doubtful. Toronto's Argonauts, who've walloped the Bombers two years running, dropped a 15 to 5 decision to Ottawa Rough Riders meanwhile and on the form shown in that game the Riders looked good enough to walk away with the Big Four title.

The two teams meet once more in Ottawa, however, before starting their two-game, total-point series for the Interprovincial Union Title—the series that will test Argos record of never in three seasons having lost a game they had to win.

Victory made Ottawa certain of finishing first in the Big Four standing and that was about the only issue decided in the east's six week-end games—one Sunday and the others Saturday.

The Alouettes consolidated third place in the Big Four by defeating Hamilton Tigers, 33 to 12, at Montreal Sunday. In the Ontario Union, with its four play-off positions already decided, Hamilton Wildcats swamped the Trojans, 46 to 12, at Ottawa and Balmy Beach defeated Sarnia Imperials, 14 to 1, at Toronto.

In the east's Intercollegiate Union, aloof from Dominion title aspirations, Western Mustangs continued their mastery by shutting out Queen's at Kingston, 32 to 0. The University of Toronto held third place, their only defeat a 31 to 7 pasting by Western, by beating McGill, 13 to 9, at Montreal.

Southern California, Michigan Headed For Rose Bowl

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan, Georgia Tech, Southern California, Penn, Southern Methodist, Penn State, Notre Dame and Army all triumphed Saturday as the college football teams in the United States turned into November and attendant crucial contests.

Michigan and Southern Methodist subdued stalwart conference opponents, the former downing Illinois 14 to 7 to strengthen its Big Nine title hopes and virtually assure the Wolverines of a Jan. 1 journey to the Rose Bowl.

Southern Methodist turned loose its great back, chunky Doak Walker, and he guided his mates to a 14 to 13 decision over Texas that all but decided the southwest flag winner.

Notre Dame and Army completed arrangements for their climactic grudge battle at South Bend next week-end. The Irish, making use of every break, capsized Navy 27 to 0, and the Cadets started on a new win streak by punishing Washington and Lee 65 to 13.

GEORGIA TECH WINS

Georgia Tech overcame bad weather and bad punting to down Duke 7 to 0 and remain unbeaten.

Southern California virtually clinched the Rose Bowl berth opposite Michigan by defeating Washington 19 to 0 as the surprising California Bears spilled U.C.L.A. 6 to 0.

In other Big Nine games, a revived Wisconsin eleven scored a 29 to 0 verdict over crippled Northwestern. Purdue shackled Iowa, 21 to 0. Indiana tripped Ohio State 7 to 0, and Minnesota bounced Pittsburgh 29 to 0, in a non-conference affair.

Missouri took over the Big Six lead with a rousing 47 to 6 conquest of Nebraska, and Kansas remained in the unbeaten list with a 55 to 0 rout of neighbor-ink Kansas State.

Records Shattered

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian and American swimmers set two new Canadian women's swim marks at a meet here Saturday night.

Carlyn Daughters of the Washington Athletic Club, Seattle, splashed to a new junior Dominion backstroke record slashing three-fifths of a second off the old record of 34 4-10 seconds.

Irene Strong, one of Canada's foremost natators, clipped 1.1 seconds off the 100-yard breaststroke mark set by Joan Langdon of Vancouver in 1942. Miss Strong's time was one minute 15 2-10 seconds.

The Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club took the meet 69 to 22 from the Americans.

Seattle Defeats Tacoma For Lead in Coast Hockey

San Francisco's Shamrocks topped the southern division of the Coast Hockey League today and Seattle took over leadership of the northern division.

The Shamrocks belted the league-leading Falcons of Fresno 4 to 2 over the week-end for their fifth victory, against one defeat. Fresno has won five, lost two. Oakland slid into third place with a 4 to 1 decision over San Diego Sunday night. It was San Diego's fifth loss of the season.

In the north, the Seattle Ironmen drubbed Tacoma 7 to 1 while Portland defeated the New Westminster Royals 4 to 2, leaving the Canadians in the cellar. Tacoma is in second place, Vancouver third.

Relative strength of the two divisions may be shown this week by the New Westminster outfit's invasion of southern cities. The Royals meet Oakland there tomorrow, while Los Angeles goes to Fresno. The Royals take on the Shamrocks in San Francisco Wednesday night and will be entertained by Los Angeles Saturday.

8,000 Players On Baseball Draft; Chicago Sox Out

CINCINNATI (AP) — The office of baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler Saturday released lists of more than 8,000 players now in minor leagues—classes AAA through D — eligible for major league draft at the annual meeting in the commissioner's office Nov. 10.

At present, only 15 major league clubs are eligible to participate in the draft since Chicago White Sox are under suspension for refusal to pay a $500 fine imposed by Chandler for alleged violation of the high-school rule in the signing of a 17-year-old pitcher.

St. Louis Browns, last-place club in the American League in the 1947 campaign, will get first "pick" at the draft meeting.

Second choice will go to Philadelphia of the National League. The Phils' position was "determined by lot" by the commissioner since they finished in a tie with Pittsburgh for eighth place in the senior circuit.

The draft meeting will adjourn when each club has no further right to select or has ceased to select. Thereafter, further selections may be made by telegram to the commissioner's office prior to midnight Nov. 13.

St. Andrews Held To Tie By Saviours

VANCOUVER (CP) — St. Andrews retained their one-point margin atop the Coast Soccer League standings here Saturday afternoon when they battled to a 2 to 2 sawoff with St. Saviours before 1,600 fans. The draw enabled the Tigers to take over role possession of second place, one point back of the leaders, and the same margin ahead of the idle Victoria United eleven.

Jankovich and Sawyer scored for St. Saviours and Greer and Johnny Newbold for St. Andrews.

WOMEN'S GOLF

Mrs. S. Paterson and Mrs. J. R. Clark won the two-ball Wenger trophy competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday, posting a net score of 86½. Mrs. C. Keown and Miss C. L. Harris were second with 87, while Mrs. T. G. Harris and Miss E. Aymes finished third with 88.

GORGE VALE GOLF

In the turkey competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday H. Fanthorpe was the winner with a net 66. L. DeCosta finished runner-up with a 69. W. Jones won the duffer medal event with a net 76. G. Graham finished second with a 77.

OVER THE FENCE

By W. L. MacTavish

"Here is another quote for you," said the Old Timer this morning. "It reads this way: 'We have a fifth column in our midst more dangerous than Fascism ever was.'

"Who said that? It was James McGuire, an official of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, and he said it because he was convinced the Comintern had been revived throughout the world with definite instructions to sabotage the trade union movement.

"Speaking for myself, I would say there is plenty of evidence to support Mr. McGuire. Why is it that the ordinary trade union, not under control of Communists, can sit down with management and usually—not always, of course, but usually — arrive at a settlement of wages and working conditions, whereas unions led by Communists stage strike after strike, as often as the leaders think they can hold the support of their members?

"Do Communists want union men to be reasonably prosperous, contented, able to pay their bills, keep their families, have a car and a garden? Not much. Communists—and you have only to read their propaganda to know it — want people discontented, poverty-stricken, hopeless. They want them to feel, as they used to say, that the workingman 'has nothing to lose but his chains,' and they manipulate trades unions cunningly to try to put the workingmen and women in that frame of mind. If a union led by Communists ever goes more than two years without a strike it is a miracle."

Dr. Vye Charged At Fall Assizes Here With Supplying Narcotics

The fall session of the Criminal Assizes formally opened today with the trial of Dr. James P. Vye, Victoria physician and surgeon, charged with unlawfully supplying narcotics to Constable J. C. Downey, a member of the R.C.M.P. narcotic squad.

A 12-man jury was picked from a panel of 48 jurymen. Mr. Justice A. M. Manson is the presiding judge. Gordon Wismer, Attorney-General, is acting for the Crown in the case, assisted by W. C. Moresby, K.C., crown prosecutor. Henry Castillou, K.C., and J. Ruttan represented the accused.

Dr. Vye pleaded not guilty to the charge of furnishing morphine to the R.C.M.P. constable June 16.

In a short address to the jury, Gordon Wismer said the Crown intended to prove that the accused furnished narcotics to Constable Downey. The narcotics had not been prescribed for medical purposes, he said, nor was the constable in need of drugs.

Mr. Wismer said the Crown would also show that Vye promised to supply the R.C.M.P. constable with morphine in exchange for stolen goods.

First witness called was Dr. A. McLachlan, who testified that Dr. Vye was a physician and surgeon and in the year 1947 was in good standing with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Province.

Constable J. Downey took the witness stand and told the court how he had contacted Dr. Vye in his office in the Bank of Toronto Building.

"I informed him I was a drug addict and a shop-lifter," he testified. "I was accompanied by another man who was a drug addict, and told the accused I had come from Vancouver."

The case is continuing.

Visiting Here To Study Fisheries

A visitor to Victoria is Quebec Game and Fisheries Minister C. E. Pouliot, who, with his acting secretary, Roland Gagnon, will study B.C. work in game and fisheries.

Now staying at the Empress Hotel, the eastern Canadian visitors will be here for several days. On Sunday they drove to Cathedral Grove in an automobile placed at their disposal by Premier John Hart.

Police Puzzled About Unusual Saanich Hold-up

Saanich police are puzzled over the actions of the gunman who is reported to have held up Harold Potter, 1017 Burdett Avenue, a Royal Mail truck driver Saturday night at Boleskine Road and Douglas Street—and then left without committing a robbery.

Investigation in the matter is continuing, Sgt. Cecil Pearce reported today.

City police picked up the radioed message from Saanich police and two prowler cars responded with Saanich officers.

They heard from Porter that while he was collecting mail from a box at the intersection, a masked man came up behind him, stuck a gun into his back saying "this is a stickup."

The mailman dropped the mail in his hand when ordered to do so. The man kicked it on the ground with his foot. He did not bother to look in the truck, Porter said, did not take a single piece of mail.

Porter said that after the gunman, who was very cool about his actions, had kicked the mail about, he ordered Porter to walk down Boleskine Road. The gunman accompanied him with the weapon prodding his victim's back. He made Porter face a wall and with a warning "if you phone the police, I'll be back," he ran from the scene and was quickly lost to sight.

Porter returned, picked up his scattered mail and telephoned the police from the confectionery store on the corner.

Police search of the district for a man Porter described as being five foot, six inches, fair, about 30 years of age, wearing a brown check coat, dark brown pants and no hat. The mask was dark in color.

Home Robbery

While Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Clarke, apartment 6 at 615 Esquimalt Road, were away from their home for 20 minutes Sunday night the dwelling was entered through the unlocked front door and $30 was found missing from a pair of Mr. Clarke's pants, and $1.75 from Mrs. Clarke's purse, city police reported.

Underground Returns Watch To Wounded R.C.A.F. Pilot

Norman Wharf, former pilot-officer air-gunner in the R.C.A.F., today is wearing the same watch he handed to a member of the Dutch underground three and one-half years ago for safekeeping before he was taken by the Germans and hospitalized for severe burns suffered when he was shot down.

On May 22, 1944, Mr. Wharf, now a member of the Provincial Lands Department, was shot down during a raid over Germany. The tail of his plane was shot away from the rest of the plane, but he stuck to his post and fell 15,000 feet, and survived, though he was seriously burned about the hands and face.

Crawling from the wreckage, he made his way to a Dutch farmhouse where he met a young Dutchman, Don Gilhuys, who was a member of the Dutch underground. Gilhuys sent for a doctor, also a member of the underground, who treated the Victorian for his burns. However, German police had spotted the crash and captured the airman, who was sent to hospital for three months.

Before the airman was taken, Gilhys advised the Victorian to give him anything he wanted saved as the Germans would seize it all. Among the gear turned over was the watch.

Mr. Wharf now has it back, with a note of apology from the Dutchman who says he is sorry he was unable to have it fixed before he returned it.

Mr. Wharf has had it repaired and it now runs perfectly. He wears it over the scar on his wrist left by the flaming crash.

Non-Partizan League Formed In Victoria

A new force entered the field of civic politics today with the formation of a Citizens' Non-Partisan League in Victoria, which aims at enlisting more interest and new and younger blood for civic office.

President of the new organization is R. H. B. Ker of Ker and Stephenson Ltd., real estate firm, while vice-president is F. A. E. Manning of Manning Lumber Mills Ltd. Secretary is Hubert Lethaby and those on the executive and organizing committees are Logan Mayhew, C. S. Henley, Howard Harmon, Harold Wilson, George Wilkinson, Ed Mallek, Mrs. Lillian McCullough, R. B. Wilson, Mrs. V. A. Peters, Hugh Francis, Rev. W. Hills, H. C. Holmes, J. Lackie and Fred McGregor.

One of the objectives of the group is "to oppose the introduction of party politics into the business administration of the city of Victoria." Other objectives are "to at all times strive for improvement of civic government," and "to encourage the study of municipal politics by members."

The organization has already held several meetings and will announce its detailed plan later this week, preparatory to picking a slate for mayor, aldermen, school trustees and police commissioners.

Coalition Faces 3 By-elections Now

British Columbia's Coalition administration, which must find a new leader shortly, faces three by-elections.

During thhe week-end, W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition member for Southh Okanagan, accepted the Progressive Conservative nomination for the federal by-election in Yale, which is necessitated with the resignation of Grote Stirling, Conservative M.P.

The two other provincial by-elections will be held in Saanich, made necessary by the appointment of Mr. Norman W. Whittaker to the B.C. Supreme Court bench, and in Cariboo, caused by the death of Louis LeBourdais. Both Mr. LeBourdais and Mr. Whittaker represented the Liberal wing of the Coalition, while Mr. Bennett represented the Conservative branch.

The National Municipal League with headquarters in New York has invited the City Council to send a delegate to its national conference on government to be held in Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12 to 14.

Inquest Into 11th Traffic Fatality Set For Wednesday

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, today set Wednesday morning at 10 at Thomson's Funeral Home for an inquest into the death of Louise Phillips, four years, 2339 Blanshard Street, who was killed Saturday afternoon in a collision with a truck at Bay and Blanshard Streets.

A Hillcrest Fuel Co. truck, driven west on Bay Street by Robert Adams, 839 Bay Street, struck Louise shortly after 1. City police reported that apparently the little girl ran out from Martin's Grocery Store, on the northeast corner of Bay and Blanshard, into the path of the vehicle. She was killed almost instantly. The accident occurred two doors from where the child lived.

The death of the girl sent the city's 1947 traffic accident toll to 11, three more than for the whole of last year. In two of the other three municipalities of Greater Victoria there have been six deaths to date in 1947, three in both Saanich and Esquimalt. Oak Bay is not included in the highway fatality list this year.

In the lower island area policed by the British Columbia Provincial Police, there have been several highway deaths this year, including three in one accident on the Malahat in October.

SAILORS SERIOUSLY HURT

Clair George McKeracher, petty officer steward of H.M.C.S. Naden, and Roy Nordal, steward on H.M.C.S. Ontario, the pair riding on a motorcycle that was in an accident Saturday evening on Johnson Street, are still in serious condition in Jubilee Hospital, attendants reported today.

The accident in which the two sailors were seriously injured occurred at 5 in the evening opposite the C.P.R. Roundhouse on Johnson Street. The motorcycle they were on was proceeding east on that street when it met a car driven west on Johnson by Frank Jeffries, 568 Bloor Street, Toronto, staying at the Metropolis Hotel, in collision.

Constables Alex Nichol, Albert Wilson and Albert Harwood attended and rushed the sailors to hospital. The driver, McKeracher, is reported to be suffering from head and internal injuries; Nordal from head injuries.

The motorcycle looked like an accordion, it was so badly smashed by the crash. The left side of the car was considerably damaged.

Saanich police reported that a bicycle being ridden by Norman McBay, Boleskine Road, without lights, knocked down W. J. Boorman, Saanich Road, on Saanich Road Sunday night. The pedestrian suffered a bad cut over the left eye that required four stitches.

George Sangster Dies At Pat Bay

A former alderman and one-time secretary of the B.C. Agricultural Association in Victoria, George Sangster, 83, died at his residence on Mills Road, Patricia Bay, Sunday.

A native of Aberdeen, Scotland, he came to this district in 1872 and was a member of the Saanich Pioneer Society.

He served as alderman in Victoria for many years and was widely known in agricultural circles throughout British Columbia.

The funeral will be held from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, Wednesday afternoon at 3. Interment will be at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Startling Drop In City Land Sales

A startling drop in sale of city-owned land for October was noted today by Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the lands, zoning and housing committee, as only nine parcels were sold during the month for $1,637, compared with 68 parcels last October for $22,357.

For the year to date sales were only little more than half what they were for the 10-month period of 1946, with 450 parcels having been sold for $184,315; while last year 714 parcels were sold for $288,613.

Cash receipts in the department for the year to date are $206,088, and for October, $7,668. For 1946 the cash receipts were $319,380, while for October, 1946, they were $35,978.

The Tourist Trade Group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will hold a luncheon meeting at noon tomorrow in the Douglas Hotel to discuss suggestions for improving the tourist indusry on Vancuver Island. G. I. Edgelow, chairman of the group, will report on a recent trip up-Island.

Considerable damage was sustained by cars driven by Fred Bates, 137 Ladysmith Street, and F. M. Van Horn, 733 Connaught Street, when they met in collision at Superior and Montreal Streets this morning at 8. City police reported Bates was going north on Montreal and Van Horn west on Superior when the accident occurred at the intersection.

FO. W. J. Watson, 343 Michigan Street, is among eight British Columbia R.C.A.F. officers posted to the latest course at the air force school of administration for junior officers, it was announced today by Air Force Headquarters, Ottawa. A fine of $35 was imposed on Mrs. Alice Jeeves, 1131 Lockley Road, in city police court this morning when she pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. The charge was laid in connection with an accident on Oct. 25 at the intersection of Douglas and Yates Streets in which a car driven by Mrs. Jeeves was in collision with another vehicle. Circumstances of the accident, read to the court by city prosecutor Claude Harrison, stated Mrs. Jeeves was making a left-hand turn at the intersection, thinking Douglas Street was Government Street.

Arthur Mendum, 69 years old, a pedestrian, was found to be suffering only from slight shock at hospital this morning as a result of walking into the side of a car driven by James Burchett, 3895 Hobbs Road, at the intersection of Johnson and Douglas Streets at 10.10. Mendum, according to city police, was walking across Douglas west to east in the south pedestrian lane against the red light; when one-third way across he stopped and the car, in charge of Burchett and with the light in his favor, started to proceed south on Douglas. Mendum, police said, apparently became confused and walked into the side of the car.

Red Skelton Man Of Many Faces

Red Skelton, who gained his first fame in vaudeville as a quick-change disguise artist, is right back where he started.

In a "movie within a movie" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Merton of the Movies," at the Capitol Theatre today, Red portrays Inspector Kane, the "man of a thousand faces."

Appearing with Skelton in the new laugh riot are Virginia O'Brien, Gloria Grahame, Leon Ames, Alan Mowbray, Charles D. Brown and Hugo Haas. Robert Alton directed. Albert Lewis produced.

DOMINION THEATRE

The "Sons of the Pioneers," top-ranking band specializing in cowboy tunes and folk music, are in town again in the newest Roy Rogers trucolor picture, "Bells of San Angelo," Republic release now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Ann Sothern In Comedy-Drama

76% Of U.S. Citizens Believe Russia Seeks World Rule

By AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

PRINCETON, N.J.—The average U.S. voter has at least five major grievances to voice against Russia.

Henry A. Wallace recently suggested that Stalin and President Truman meet to discuss Russian-American relations and to present each other with a list of grievances to be aired. The Russian people no doubt have a good many complaints against the United States. So far as the American people are concerned, the five main things wrong with Russia are as follows, judging by an extensive public opinion survey by the institute.

1. That Russia is trying to dominate or rule the world.

2. That Communists working in the interests of Russia would destroy the Christian religion if they could.

3. That Russia's refusal to allow travelers and visitors behind the "iron curtain" is an unfriendly act—that the tight veil of secrecy drawn around her activities probably indicates hostile intentions toward us.

4. That Moscow has seized working control of many satellite states by illegal means.

5. That Russian failure to cooperate is hurting the United Nations.

Friends of Russia may argue that some or all of those grievances on the part of the American people are unjust or that they show lack of knowledge of the true situation. The purpose of the institute survey was not to determine what attitude toward the Soviets is right or wrong, but what the majority of Americans are actually thinking.

The instrument of the public opinion survey makes it possible to do this quickly and efficiently. It would be interesting and valuable to know what the Russian people — as distinguished from their leaders — think about the United States. So far as is known, however, no impartial poll-taking machinery exists in Russia.

Opinion throughout the United States was tested on the following questions, among others:

"As you hear and read about Russia these days, do you believe Russia is trying to build herself up the ruling power of the world, or is Russia just building up protection against being attacked in another war?" — Ruling power, 76 per cent; protection, 18 per cent; no opinion, 6 per cent.

"Do you think Communists would destroy the Christian religion if they could?"—Yes, 72 per cent; no, 15 per cent; no opinion, 13 per cent.

"Do you think the split between Russia and the United States will affect the United Nations—that is, will it help it, hurt it, or will it make no difference?"—Help, 6 per cent; hurt, 72 per cent; no difference, 16 per cent; no opinion, 6 per cent.

"Do you think that Russia will leave the United Nations?"—Yes, 42 per cent; no, 34 per cent; qualified, 5 per cent; no opinion, 19 per cent.

They'll Do It Every Time

elimination normal and the mind may be depressed by his condition. Rhythmic movements occur in the hands, fingers, feet and legs, and about the mouth. In severe cases, tremor persists during sleep.

Stiffness of the muscles results from muscle contraction. They retain their strength even though the patient is slow in moving about. The face, in paralysis agitans, is mask-like, because of the slow movements of the face muscles.

Many diseases resemble paralysis agitans, and patients should be given the benefit of a thorough examination before they are told that they must learn to live with their difficulty. The prospect for relief of some of their symptoms is good, if they co-operate.

The DOCTOR Says:

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Paralysis agitans, called shaking palsy or Parkinson's disease, is an ailment that may remain stationary for years. A complete cure is not possible.

Worry, anxiety and excessive fatigue should be avoided. Massages and warm applications help to loosen the tight muscles. Certain drugs also help eliminate stiffness, but do not have much effect on the tremor. Sedatives are necessary for loss of sleep and anxiety.

Several surgical operations have been attempted, and while some are partially successful, complete relief from all symptoms is difficult to obtain. Patients should not spend time and money on quack remedies.

Paralysis agitans may develop in young people, following encephalitis, and persist throughout their natural lifetime. A special variety, which occurs in older persons, results from changes in the brain; it may interfere with certain of their physical actvities but does not shorten their life expectancy.

Patients with paralysis agitans usually have trembling hands, stiff muscles, and set expression on their faces. In the variety which occurs in late life, many of the symptoms are simply an excessive form of aging changes.

Paralysis agitans is a painless disease. The appetite is good,

Fifty Scouts Take Leader Course Here

Fifty scouts from all sections of southern Vancouver Island came to Victoria during the week-end to take a one-day patrol leaders' training course at the Victoria Scout headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street.

The course was conducted by Freeman King, field commissioner, in an effort to relieve the pressing shortage of trained patrol leaders. Don Hamer and Ernie Merrit, assistant district commissioners, aided Mr. King.

The scouts enrolled for the training course spent all day Saturday receiving instruction in all phases of scouting activities. The day concluded with a dinner meeting at which George Briscoe, president of the Greater Victoria Scout Association, and D. G. Decker, executive secretary of the Community Chest, gave addresses.

The Boy Scout Association is one of the 19 agencies supported by the Community Chest.

Mr. King stated that the shortage of patrol leaders has reached the point where it is limiting the activities of the Scout Association. He said if more leaders are not secured soon, some activities will have to be curtailed.

—'TWAS 6 O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING—

THE OTHER DAY . . . I got quite a shock. I thot IT was our old grandfather's clock. Awaiting storage in Hesney's hall, aloof . . . alone . . . and very tall. So I opened the door felt up inside, but it WASN'T our clock . . . my mother pride. Because the heart of THIS, had surely died, it DIDN'T have . . . any works inside. And like genuine antiques from many lands, I noticed too . . . it was minus it's hands. I stood a moment in a sorta daze, my thots going back to boyhood days. To OUR old clock, in the front hall, it was always to me . . . so comical. It's works a bunch of intricate gears, we used to tinkle thru the years. It didn't boom out like the ones to-day, 'twas a French manufacture's protegee. It never went, 'twas just for show, given to mother by an impresario. Who taught her piano with a French accent, when suddenly back to his country he went. We timed these suites for winter selling, so about the covers we're doing this yelling... Floral tapestries of the pre-war kind, so for living room's sake . . . KEEP US IN MIND. And down to HUMBER'S you sure must treek, they'll last as long, as ANY sniteek. Our clock's hands always sed two-twenty, but it could tinkle the bell . . . times a plenty. And a naughty stunt . . . Sunday morn about 6, was to put the thing thru all it's tricks. And by spinning the hands once or twice, it would start it's tinkling, like glass against ice. Till father would descend, his face rather sour, for awakening him at THAT 56th hour. Wishing to goodness we'd never been born, cause the same thing happened, every Sunday morn. There was always a mystery about our clock, my sisters talking a lotta slop. Of how the hands, got themselves tied, the moment the old professor's wife died. And if anything got lost, even a football sock, yep . . . 'twas there, in Grandfather's clock. If you get lost in finding our joint, a policeman's hand will clady point. To the Hesney Warehouse, so easily found, the works inside are cheap & sound. In our clock were umbrellas, & old golf sticks, baseball bats & walking-sticks. So . . . of my youth, my mind chocablock, as I stood before THIS grandfather's clock. I was tempted to reach down inside, for something very special I used to hide. Away from my sisters & the others, but especially both, my sweet brothers. Then I knew, as I looked at this face, it WASN'T the clock, we had at our place. This was 18th Century, not like our laff . . . which was made I'm sure . . . in the 16th and a half.

Painful Piles

I can help most pile sufferers. I believe I can help you too if you want relief from the itching soreness and burning pain of piles.

My Hem-Roid formula is different. Hem-Roid is an internal treatment. A small tablet taken with a glass of water. It helps relieve some of the conditions inside your body that causes you such intense pile soreness and pain.

But I'll be honest with you—there are some cases where Hem-Roid does not seem to help very much. I refuse to ask people to pay for something that does not help them. If Hem-Roid helps YOU surely it is worth the small cost. If it does not help you I want you to have your money back. I will take your word. I find people are honest about such things.

Simply go to any drug store and get a package of Hem-Roid. Use it as directed for 10 days. Then if you are not satisfied return what you did not use and get your money back. This is an unusual offer but Hem-Roid has been sold on a refunded promise for over 40 years. I am not asked to make many refunds so Hem-Roid must help most people who use it.

Try Hem-Roid now. It won't cost you a penny if it does not help you.

Leaders Slip As Market Slows

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising tendencies persisted for individual stocks today although many market leaders slipped and dealings were among the slowest of the past two months.

Good dividends and earnings again were virtually ignored but a little short covering for tomorrow's holiday helped prop trends, while there was a fair assortment of gains running to a point or so, many losers were present near the close.

Canadian issues were inactive. Canadian Pacific gained ⅛. Dome Mines lost ¼. Hiram Walker and Distillers Seagrams were unchanged.

Stolen Papers Sold On Street Corners

A report that some children had stolen 35 newspapers from the front racks of the Horseshoe Newsstand on Government Street Sunday morning and had sold them on the street corners, brought city police to the scene. They were told that five of the party responsible were in a certain cafe. Police went there and interviewed five boys, who were of a group of 60 visiting newsboys from Tacoma. These boys claimed they were not responsible for the deed.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trade was less active than in previous sessions in oats and barley futures today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. There was a decided decrease in hedging pressure. In the late stages of trading, manufacturers' demand became more aggressive and prices recovered slightly. Trade in barley was more active than in oats.

Used Detective To Learn If Car Sale Deal Was Genuine

An Oak Bay resident who had advertised in the newspapers to sell his new car for $2,700, got a "taker" in short order—but under the plan in which the deal was to be settled he got "cold feet" and asked the city police for assistance in the matter Sunday night.

Det.-Sgt. Henry Jarvis was detailed to handle the case. Interviewing the man who owned the car the detective heard that a mar. had telephoned him at home in response to the ad and offered to take the car for $2,550 cash. However, the car seller was to come down to Chinatown and meet the buyer where the car and cash would change hands.

The seller saw a danger of being robbed in this process. The result was Det.-Sgt. Jarvis went to the meeting spot—and there he met a Chinese who showed him $2,550 he ha din his inside coat pocket.

The car owner was advised to renegotiate with the Chinese on the matter. Detective Louis Callan informing him the arrangement had been found to be genuine.

Film Society Sees 'Alexander Nevsky'

The Film Society of the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria held its first showing on Sunday afternoon, at the Oak Bay Theatre. The film was "Alexander Nevsky" production of the ace Soviet director, Sergei Eisenstein.

The picture deals with Prince Alexander Nevsky of 13th century Russia, who, seeing his country invaded on all sides by Swedes, Mongols, and then Germany's Teutonic knights, rallies a peasant army to his banner and in a spectacular battle, defeats the Teutons.

One of the moving scenes came as the knights, in flight across the frozen lake, were trapped by the breaking ice, weighted by heavy accoutrements, were drawn down into the black water.

The cast was headed by the Russian star, Nikolai Cherkasov in the role of Alexander.

Dr. B. K. Sandwell, editor of Saturday Night, opened the series of showings with a brief address in which he referred appreciatively to the merit and desirability of film societies in a community.

One Woman's Day

NEW YORK By NANCY HODGES

HEROES' HOMECOMING

I AM WRITING THIS on Sunday, Oct. 26, although it will not reach my readers until a week later.

But I feel I must record what has been a deeply emotional experience, one which I shared with literally millions of New Yorkers.

For today Manhattan paid homage, on a lovely Indian summer afternoon, to the first contingent of American soldier dead brought home from the battlefields and cemeteries of Europe.

A total of 6,200 of these war victims reached this harbor on the U.S. transport Joseph V. Connolly at 11 o'clock this morning and were accorded a fitting, if sad, welcome.

PLANES AND WREATHS

ESCORTED BY DESTROYERS, Coast Guard cutters and other craft, which dropped floral tributes ahead of her, the transport, with its pathetic burden, was also greeted by 100 planes from the army, navy, Coast Guard and New York police departments which circled around as the floating "hearse" moved into her berth.

Salutes of 21 guns were fired from each of the three adjacent forts as one lone, flag-draped casket was taken from the 6,200 aboard the transport for the mass memorial service.

Except that the remains were those of a winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor, no one knew the identity, rank or unit of this "unknown soldier," chosen to represent all the service dead on this solemn occasion.

LONG PROCESSION

THE CASKET, WRAPPED ONLY in the folds of "Old Glory," was then placed on a caisson, drawn by an armored car, and escorted by eight walking pallbearers representing all the armed forces.

Later in the afternoon I saw it pass up Fifth Avenue on its way to Central Park, where, in the Sheep Meadow, the memorial services were conducted from a high catafalque.

Dense crowds lined the long route and watched the impressive procession, led by several hundred West Point and Annapolis Cadets and including nearly 7,000 escorting soldiers, sailors, marines, Waacs, Waves, Spars, American Legion, municipal groups and others.

Mingling with the strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and other appropriate airs by the dozen or so bands were the deep notes of the tolling of all the church bells along the route.

IMPRESSIVE RITES

AT SHEEP MEADOW, a crowd estimated at 250,000 — although it seemed more like a million to me, in its packed, suffocating masses—had gathered for the simple rites.

In the immediate vicinity of the flag-draped, flower-decked catafalque were assembled about 10,000 of the next-of-kin of the dead heroes, together with wounded veterans from nearby service hospitals.

Protestant, Catholic and Jewish chaplains conducted the simple rites which followed the opening 45 minutes of religious and patriotic music by an army band.

Another 21-gun salute, the sounding of the haunting notes of the Last Post, which died away to leave only the sounds of muffled sobs—and the ceremony was over.

SOME SIDELIGHTS

AS ALWAYS, I FOUND the occasion rich in human interest.

While awaiting the procession at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-fourth Street, I got into conversation with an elderly couple whose son was among the be-medalled veterans in the marching ranks.

Becaue there seems to be divided opinion as to the advisibility of bringing America's dead heroes home to rest, I asked their views. The old man had very definite ones:

"I don't hold with it. My boy says any fighting man would rather rest with his buddies. I think it's just a racket on the part of the undertakers—they got together and forced the government to do it. This damned commercialism can't even leave the dead in peace!"

But, later in the park, a girl whose brother is being brought home at a later date, was just as emphatically in favor of it. "Why should our Joe lie all those thousands of miles away from us who loved him? I want him to rest beside Ma and Pa in Brooklyn."
